

Around and around the sewage goes

and where it stops nobody knows

The indignant citizen who phoned a few weeks back about the comment in the "Orville S. Greenbush" column on "the Sewerside Inn on Shit Crick" prompted us to take a good look at that stream.

We found a lot of questions and a few answers.

These we have tried to present in a photo essay that we have titled "All Around the Circle".

As far as the quality of the water itself is concerned we would not recommend drinking it, and falling into it would be a most unpleasant experience.

What little testing has been done on it on the down stream end gave, according to one spokesman, a rating equivalent to that of the water in the Belleville Sewage Plant secondary treatment tanks.

Napanee Fair—a real good show

The fall fair season got underway to a rousing start with the three-day excitement of the Napanee Fair.

Over 11,500 people were in attendance to join in the fun.

This is the 122nd running of this event ... a pretty good record for any 'show'.

Asses on highway

A donkey in a field is a pretty rare sight in these parts, one on the road comes as something of a shock.

Steven Hogenboom, 17, of R.R.3, Kingston discovered that when he encountered one on the Glenora Road last Thursday.

Mr. Hogenboom was driving towards the Glenora ferry when the car in front of him braked sharply and swerved. When he reached the spot he discovered why, he collided with a female donkey, owned by David and Mary Taylor.

The Taylor's keep the donkey to do light draft work on their small farm. Mr. Taylor said that as far as he could tell the animals had stepped over the fence where a newly fallen branch from a dead elm had bent it down. They had travelled half a mile down a laneway and were heading for their stable in the barn.

The collision resulted in $500 damage to Mr. Hogenboom's imported compact, the windshield was shattered and the wing mirror torn off the door.

The donkey received two small scratches on her face, and a slight graze on the chest. Which must go to prove something - if only that a sturdy donkey is tougher than a compact car.

In addition to the usual events, some new features were added this year. There were new 'faces' in evidence in the livestock section ... goats ... and chickens appeared in a new role too ... barbecued at the Lions Club booth.

The goat show attracted a lot of entrants. It took four hours to judge them and the judge took time to explain the way a dairy goat should look ... spring of the ribs, attachment of udder, line of the back and length of the neck were some of the items on which evaluation was made.

Goats are becoming increasingly important in the milk market. There is a demand for the milk which is easily digestible - more so than cow's milk for babies and adult with digestive problems, or for people who are allergic to cow's milk. Hospitals often buy goat's milk for that purpose. Dairy goats are also increasing in popularity as a source of household milk, since their daily production is enough for the average household, without drowning everybody in milk the way a cow does.

Among the other events in the livestock section were the 4-H showmanship classes and the annual Holstein show, judged as a "real good show for a fair the size of Napanee."

Long Point's turn to burn

Team work by fire departments, volunteers, and the staff from the Ministry of Natural Resources, using shovels, sacks and orchard sprayers, as well as more specialized equipment, was effective in controlling a grass and brush fire which covered 1,400 acres on Long Point from spreading further last week.

The Picton, Bloomfield-Hallowell and South Marysburgh Fire Departments and four fire-fighting vehicles provided the specialized equipment.

The fire was concentrated in an area of three miles by one and a half miles. Grassland and brush destroyed belonged to the Ministry. It used to be an army bombing and gunnery range. During the height of the blaze, a few 'live' shells, left on the range, made themselves heard, but no one was hit.

The Women's Institutes went nostalgic with their exhibits, based on the theme of Grandmother's Kitchen. Antique stoves and other kitchen equipment, displayed in a lived-in atmosphere drew a lot of interest and comment.

The show put on by the Trans-Canada Hell Drivers drew a capacity crowd, lined up eight deep along the track.

Sixteen-year-old Pam Lowry was named Napanee's 1977 Fair Queen. In all, she had entered 20 exhibits, including baking, sewing and flower-arranging. First runner-up was Yvonne Thompson and second, Wendy Caton.

In recent years, fall fairs have been making a come-back in popularity. At one time, interest had flagged and there was concern that fairs would pass out of existence.

The 122-year record of existence set by the Napanee Fair, and the outstanding success of this year's events, are a good indication that fall fairs are going to be around for a long time.

New editor for Scanner

The Quinte Scanner has a new editor, Bess Wares of Northport.

Bess began her newspaper career on the Kingston Whig-Standard back in the late forties.

"From the very first day on the paper, I knew the news room was just where I wanted to be," she says.

Later, she went on to do a five-year stint as editor of one of the Provincial daily papers.

"During the intervening years, I got away from the news and of things for a while, doing advertising for private industry and for the Provincial Government," she said.

"But the rat race of Toronto and that awful drive to work along 401 every morning finally got to me, and I opted for a Quinte cottage and a pleasanter life style."

Editorial

We're getting bombarded these days with warnings that we'd better save energy and a lot of how-to-do-it advice.

For example, a booklet on the editorial desk called "100 Ways to Save Energy and Money in the Home"...tips on how you can stretch Canada's energy resources and put money in your pocket at the same time.

Or the current household survey by Ontario to find out whether we're well insulated or losing our heat out through the cracks...and, if so, what are we going to do about it?

All of us could, I am sure, come up with examples of our own.

Well, maybe it's time some of the top energy producers started taking their own advice.

Two large envelopes from Ontario Hydro arrived on the editor's desk one day this week, dated July 26 and July 27.

One contained the third and the other the fourth in a series of background information on Hydro's submissions and supplementary memoranda to the Royal Commission on Electric Power Planning.

Mailing both out in the same envelope could have saved a lot of energy...and probably money too.... stuffing one envelope instead of two and processing one instead of two through the postal service.

It may sound like a minor saving, until you start adding up the 50 or so daily newspapers in the Province, the 300-odd weekly papers...the radio and TV stations...and Heaven knows who else is on the mailing list.

And Hydro isn't the only culprit. In the same day's mail we got one empty envelope from Queen's Park, a rather frequent occurrence.

Let's all practise what we preach and see how much energy we really can save.

After all, in this hot summer weather, who really wants to use up any more energy than they have to.

Got another story for you this week that you ain't going to believe. This one I know for sure is true, got it right from the horses mouth so's to speak.

Seems this old scotch feller over in the county been having his problems lately. First off his well runs dry, on account of us not having no rain for so long, so he's been digging water to drink from his neighbours down the road a piece. His wife goes down nearly every day with a stack of these white bottles that Elmo buys her bleach in, fills 'em up with drinking water and carries 'em home. That were the start of his worries.

Anyways, it seems he went to make his porridge the other night, now I can't see why these scotchmen want to eat that stuff all the time, now and again in the winter OK, but not in this summer heat, reckon maybe their innards is so tuned up to the stuff that they don't work proper without it. Well, to get back to my story, he goes to make his porridge this night, on account of the good stuff having to sit all night long to suit these scotchmen, and there's this white jug sitting on the counter, so he figgers it's the drinking water and pours it in. Then off he goes to bed.

Next morning, round about five, he wakes up with this thirst, so up he gets and trots off to the kitchen to get a drink. He picks up the white jug and takes a swig and damn near chokes - you guess it, it were bleach.

Well, I reckon all hell breaks loose there he is with his innards burning up, and his wife pouring milk down his neck by the quart. Well, they gets that sorted around, so he ain't feeling bad no more, and goes back to bed.

Come breakfast time, his wife reckons that she'll take him his breakfast in bed, on account of the shock he give his system, so she cooks up the porridge and takes him a nice big bowl full. There he is sitting up in bed shovelling this stuff down, while she goes back to the kitchen. Well, while she's at it she remembers that the last lot of porridge he made rotted in the pot, so she figgers while she's thinking of it, she'll put this lot in the freezer. When she pours it out of the pot, she gets a good whiff of it, you guessed it, bleach again!

Now they've got to go through the whole rigamarole again, more quarts of milk, and a call to the doctor to tell him that the old fool has gone and ate porridge made with bleach.

Well, reckon he didn't come to no harm after all that. Says he peed white fer a day, and that all that disinfectant has made him real sterile. Should think at his age he wouldn't be too worried about that.

Letters

TO THE EDITOR:

I've often thought how unfortunate it is that weekly newspapers do not have the economic capabilities to cover the movements of elected representatives from the ridings which concern them most, in Ottawa and Toronto. As it is all the local person ever reads of his MP or MLA comes from the members themselves in the form of press releases, biased to the point of being propaganda.

For example, it seems likely that few people are aware of Jim Taylor's (MLA for Prince Edward-Lennox) affiliation with a scandal on overspending during the construction of two Ontario Hydro heavy water plants.

As Norman Webster in the Globe and Mail last Thursday points out, "After all, we're only talking about $108 million in unforeseen spending. Small change really."

Although the overspending itself seems to be public knowledge, Taylor has apparently rejected an inquiry into the reasons behind the escalated costs, because an inquiry would be too expensive.

As projects across the province regularly go over-budget, as in the Deseronto Water Project, it seems a not too expensive investment to find out why, and stop skyrocketing costs before they start.

It is to Jim Taylor's credit that he seems to have a responsive ear to the needs of the people in his own riding. It's probably not difficult when we local yokels rarely hear what our members do outside the fairly limited arena of their own press releases.

PICTON UNITED CHURCH HALL
CHAPEL STREET, PICTON

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1977
7:00 P.M. TO 9:00 P.M.

The Committee is interested in your views on boating safety; the proposed Loyalist Parkway; water pollution; Belleville bridge hours of access; waterlot licensing; and any concerns on conservation, recreation and land use relative to this part of the waterway of the CORTS Corridor as a whole.

The taste shown in blending rusticity and sophistication in the decor of Bloomfield's new delicatessen, 'The County Cupboard' is reflected in its stock. Where else can one choose from more than 60 varieties of cheeses and many other international delicacies?

No rain - PE farmers want help

The Prince Edward Federation of Agriculture is going to ask the Farm Credit Corporation, banks, feed and machinery dealers for a moratorium on all debts and accrued interest and service charges until the next crop year.

The decision was made following discussion at a Federation meeting of problems faced because of drought, only briefly relieved by the rainfall of last weekend. Only 22 millimetres fell in July.

Federation President Dan Nielsen, Cherry Valley, was not optimistic that the farmers' objective would be achieved.

Back in 1966, adverse weather loans - interest free for a couple of years - were made, a local banker said. But he suggested that the Federation's idea would probably be better aimed at government.

Quinte News Round Up

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PLAY FOREVER

Monopoly is one of those games that seem to go on forever, if you don't call a halt.

But next time the kids can you into a game on a rainy afternoon, you'll be within your rights to "cop out" after 90 minutes.

That's the time limit set for contestants in the Monopoly Tournament planned for Belleville's Quinte Mall from August 8 to 13.

And the winner will get more than Park Avenue, or Broadway. He or she will get to go to Toronto and, maybe, to Monte Carlo.

There's no entry fee for the local tournament. Farms are available at the Quinte Mall.

DEPARTMENT HEAD NON ACADEMIC?

James Eadie, recording secretary of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society, has been awarded the Cruikshank Medal, given by the Ontario

Historical Society for the best article by a non-academic historian. Mr. Eadie is head of the History Department at the Napanee District Secondary School.

GRANT FOR MARYSBURGH

A $4,225 Wintario grant will provide capital assistance to South Marysburgh Township Public Library Board.

Pictou Recreation and Parks Department will get up to $1,012 from Wintario for resurfacing the tennis courts at Benson Park.

Wintario provides up to half the cost of such projects matching private and public contributions from other sources dollar for dollar.

PE GOING UP IN SMOKE

Following the extensive brush fire on Point Petre last week, Long Point took its turn with 350 acres burning on Wednesday.

Local fire fighter battled the flames alongside farmers with orchard sprayers. The fire broke out on the old DND range near Gull Pond.

The Point Petre fire is still not fully controlled. Ministry of Natural Resources experts estimate that the cost of this fire was between $1,500 and $2,000. No estimate has been given for the cost of the Long Point fire.

Fire warnings are still in force for the Quinte area. Little respite is in sight until there is a prolonged rain.

All around the circle

At the head waters of Picton Creek, Marsh Creek, or locally known as "shit creek" is the sewage plant that serves the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services Prince Edward Heights and Loch Sloy Industrial Park. Built in 1941 by the Department of National Defence, it is a "trickling filter" design. According to Ministry of the Environment specialists, it is "operating quite efficiently but, of course, it has no phosphate removal or other tertiary treatment".

Detergent foam on the outflow from the old Department of National Defence Sewage works, just downstream from the outflow pipe.

The creek wanders through the Greenwood Cemetery and past Mount Olivet Cemetery

The Picton dump now adds its contribution to the creek waters. Gordon McRae, Ministry of the Environment, told the Scanner that they have no research information to help their experts estimate how much, or for how long, chemicals will leak out of the old dump. Plans for tiles, trenches, etc., to bring the water through the dump run up against the problems of the multiplicity of springs, drains and rivulets in and around the dump area. It would appear that the mistake of using the marsh as a dump will haunt us for a long time.

Picton's newly-updated plant now has holding facilities for large volumes that occur during wet periods. Rain or snow melt gets into the sewage lines and causes a fantastic increase in the volume. Until the new facility was completed, this overflow was simply chlorinated and dumped into the creek.

Passing under the York-William Street bridge were several storm drain lines discharging into the creek, a reminder that in years past, many town residents, when they went modern with indoor plumbing, simply hooked into the storm drains. A survey of the town was last conducted in 1972 to ascertain if any homes were still hooked this way. The Town of Picton is planning another such survey, to follow up on homes that were not tested during the 1972 survey because people were not home.

The creek now comes out from under the Bridge Street bridge into the head of Picton harbour. The owner of the Picton Bay Motel says that sometimes "the stuff coming out of there you wouldn't believe". Gord McRae explains that this could be "wash out" from the years of accumulation on the bottom of the creek.

Just a short distance from the mouth of the creek, Picton water works pumps the water in and up the hill to start all over again.

Kamal Rostom

I'm in my fifties, and I'm young. Those around me don't think so, especially my wife who perpetually convinces me that I'm no longer a young, if not already an old man. I know very well what her mischievous drives are, she knows that I'm an artist and consequently prone to appreciate beauty, especially in lovely young women. To drive me away from them she keeps labelling me an old man!

But this is another story. What I want to say is that there is no fallacy as widespread as that of old age. After forty, you are - in the view of some ignorant persons - no longer young. That is not true, because youth is in the heart and soul, and not only in the body.

A few weeks ago, in this column, I mentioned my friend Dr. George Hyde, a former professor at the American University in Cairo, who used to say to anyone who asked her about her age that she was 65 years young. That is true, because she was active and brisk as a youth in his twenties.

I myself reached my highest achievements during my supposedly "old age". I was director general at the Academy of Scientific Research in Egypt as well as director of publications in the censorship department. I published two books, and there are still three other books in print. I'm an avid reader, as the records at the Public Library will reveal, and I also read the Globe and Mail every morning and the Toronto Star each evening. So I am by no means a lethargic person.

But there are persons who retire from life at the age of 50 or 60. They are no longer productive members of society. They prefer to withdraw into their shells and lose interest in life, thinking that their role as human beings is finished and waiting for death.

Dr. Maxwell Maltz, the famous plastic surgeon, is not that type of man. He states: "I have been a plastic surgeon all my life, but I know that sooner or later - I'm 60 - I'll have to stop practicing. So 15 years ago I started taking writing seriously. I may be old as a surgeon, but I'm only 15 years old as a practicing writer: I chose writing as a new life for myself to avoid aspects of retirement. When I'm working on a book, I feel young and full of enthusiasm giving the best I have in me, always trying to improve. I felt as young as I did when I was a kid of 15, playing baseball with my friends or trying to learn more about the world."

Advances in medicine are changing the whole picture of old age, for fatal diseases which are incurable today will be curable tomorrow, and consequently the span of life will increase. If you are in your fifties, as I am, believe me, you are in your prime of life, because many geriatricians and authorities on the problems of ageing consider 65 as middle aged and 75 as the beginning of old age.

Many firms in the United States, at present, make retirement optional. Thus a person can perform a job as long as he feels capable of performing it, and if he chooses to retire he sets before his eyes new areas of living. Thus he can write books, lecture, or just make public speeches.

Quoting Dr. Maltz again, "a man who started working when he was a poor kid of 14 and has spent his life working in the wholesale food products field, amassing a fortune, found himself retired at 65. He had never the time to get a formal education; a wealthy man, he didn't even know what a paragraph was, and had read less than a dozen books in his lifetime. These last few years he has spent as a "schoolboy" getting the education he'd previously missed out on."

As they say, wine is not good until it is aged, it mellows with the passing of the years. So are men. They acquire experience, wisdom and insight as long as they are alive.

So don't let others convince you that you are old, just because you are 60 or 65. Set your positive goals and don't think negatively. If all depends on your self-image and determination to keep it bright and shining. There are many bad effects that result from feeling old and you can only overcome these harmful effects by feeling young, attractive and beloved. There is no fallacy as destructive as old age - so, my dear wife, rest assured that in my fifties I'm still YOUNG.

Medical info

Worried about costs of medical care but too embarrassed to discuss the subject?

You don't have to be any more... just go to your public library.

Dr. Lazarus Loeb, president of the Ontario Medical Association, says that when people look for any other services they automatically ask for a cost estimate. But, since OHIP tends payment directly to the doctor, some patients think the information is privileged, while others take medical care for granted and consider all health services are free...which, of course, they are not.

To relieve us of our embarrassment, the OMA has sent its 1977 schedule of fees to public libraries. The schedule lists recommended charges for professional services. OHIP payment is 10 per cent less than the listed fee.

The OMA reports, "Although it is a complex reference book with technical components and medical terminology, the Association recognizes the need for patients to have access to information about some of the costs of health care."

THE DESERONTO REPORTER

News and events of specific interest to the residents of the Town of Deseronto

Thursday, August 4, 1977

This power-curb is laying down the curbs on Deseronto's Main Street. Capable of pre-forming 2,000 feet of curbing a day, the machine forces out a very dry concrete mixture in the shape of the curb, dispensing with the old, laborious method using forms.

Wintario grants

Two more Wintario grants have been announced for Deseronto and area.

In a news release from Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings-Peterborough, it was noted that the First Deseronto Boy Scout group will receive $845 to assist in the cost of transporting the boys to the Boy Scouts Canadian Jamboree in Prince Edward Island.

A grant for the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte Karate Club in Deseronto also received approval of their application. They will receive $188 to help purchase karate equipment.

Who gets the money?

It looks as if there's going to be a lot of local interest in getting financial help from the Provincial Government for Deseronto home repairs.

The news of a $35,000 Ontario Home Renewal Program Grant to Deseronto, publicized late on Tuesday, which included the fact that interested individuals should contact the municipality for information, resulted in three requests to the Deseronto Municipal Offices by 10 a.m. Wednesday.

"The forms aren't even available yet," Carman Milligan, Deseronto clerk-treasurer, reports. "There will be about four or five forms to be filled in. And we still have to decide on policy for granting loans."

Maximum loans are $7,500. Loans are available only to owner-occupants and the amount of the loan is based on adjusted family income.

The Housing Ministry has set up scales to use in granting loans but the municipality doesn't have to go along with these. Each municipality can set up its own policy about repayment of loans. Some, or all, of the loan may be "forgivable".

Maximum grant given by the Province to a town of Deseronto's size is $60,000. The $35,000 grant is the advance the town requested.

Deseronto has about 550 "housing units". Not all are owner occupied.

The $35,000 would allow for 14 loans of the maximum $7,500. The $60,000 would cover 28.

Deseronto Legion News

A farewell party for Padre Father G. Vanderharjden was held in the Deseronto Legion Hall, last Friday. The padre is leaving Deseronto for Albany, New York.

On behalf of Branch 280 and the Ladies Auxiliary, Comrade President Ross Carran thanked the padre for all he has done and his sincerity in fulfilling his obligations.

Rev. J. Fletcher, Protestant padre, was asked to make the presentation of a farewell gift, a crested Royal Canadian Legion pen and pencil set.

Father Vanderharjden expressed his thanks and said how pleasant his stay in Deseronto had been. He also passed on comments about the sociability and courtesiousness of Canadians from his family members who had been visiting from Holland.

The evening closed with refreshments donated and served by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Happenings

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. (Sandy) Harvey, Thomas Street, were Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson and Stephanie, Orangeville; Mrs. C. MacGregor and Mrs. H. Loveless, Cobourg, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, Orillia.

Mrs. S. McTaggart and daughter, Debbie, returned home Sunday night after a visit in Glendale, California, with Rev. A. Slater and Mrs. Slater. Mr. Slater underwent major surgery recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brooks and children visited in Niagara Falls, Ontario, over the weekend.

Residents of Parkview Apartments had a number of guests call over the holiday weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Moyce, Fort Erie, and David Watson and sons, Calgary, visited Mr. and Mrs. B. Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sly and daughter, Cherri, Kingston, and a friend, Janet Loo, called on Mrs. A. Sly. Mr. John Tunncliffe and two sons, Mrs. H. Tunncliffe Jahn Tunncliffe and two sons visited Mrs. H. Tunncliffe. Mrs. M. Luffman, Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Hearn and children, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. David Nicholson and two sons, Matheson, called on Mrs. M. Ryan. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Hearn, Thomas Street.

Kim Green and daughter, Nikki, St. George Street, spent two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Green, and brothers and sister, Fulton, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Vintinner and Christina of Oakville have been guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Vintinner, Almerstvie, and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Hearn, Thomas Street.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Brant and daughters, Janet and Jennifer of Belleville visited their parents, Mrs. Brant and Mr. and Mrs. Hearn.

Mrs. J. Hill and children, Calgary, and Mrs. R. Dowdell, Toronto, are guests of their mother, Mrs. Lorne Foster.

A group of women from churches in the area, organized by Mrs. Everett Martin, prepared and served a delicious picnic supper for all residents at the Quinte Beach Nursing Home, on Wednesday, July 27.

Special guests were ladies from Mrs. McGillivray, Mill Street, gentlemen from Mr. and Mrs. Bennis, Thomas Street.

The churches represented were: Shannonville, Trinity Anglican A.C.W.; Marysville, Holy Name of Mary, C.W.L.; Christ Church, The Reserve, Ladies Guild, Deseronto; Pentecostal W.A.; United Church, U.C.W.; St. Marks, A.C.W.; Church of The Redeemer, W.M.S., and St. Vincent de Paul, C.W.L.

Rev. J. Fletcher, St. Marks, was unable to attend, but Mrs. J. Fletcher was a charming substitute.

Mrs. Millie Burleigh, Mill Street, entertained with piano selections and accompanied a singing.

Under the supervision of Mary Littlefield and Darlene Vincent, a group from the Bath Majorettes presented a variety program which was delightful.

Janice Littlefield, who recently won a trophy at a musical competition in Toronto, played the accordion.

Angela Vincent and Lisa Niewkoop sang duets.

Other majorettes taking part were Kimberly and Kelly Cheesborough, Kristy Littlefield and Tina Thompson.

On behalf of residents and staff, Mrs. Martin thanked everyone who contributed to the picnic in any way.

Mr. Albert Reed returned home last Wednesday, after spending 4 glorious weeks in England. He brought back the following "Jubilee" poem, written by his nephew, Edward Bignell of Sevenoaks, Kent. Mr. Bignell has written several other poems of various types over the years.

JUBILEE

Come the years, as sleep in quiet adieu,
Pluck we now, one, afore that too is spent,
For a Queen, our praise, our thanks anew,
Remembering, as we do, time is but lent.

Fate, seeks not our part, as there does cast,
Tis but for us to favour its esteem,
Redeem the time, the days now past,
Then, and now, a Queen hath reigned supreme.

Her portrait in blazoned light desiring,
Suffice the call, thy peoples' need,
Humility, graciousness unfiring,
Serenity, journeying on foot and steed.

This then, your Jubilee, hallmarked, the years
Floral aligned, your Majesty's way;
Journey thee, midst joyous tears,
Let song and laughter, mount each day.

Cost thee well for a Monarch's part,
Time rewarding the golden years,
Ever strong, ever joyful, be thine heart,
Happiness, hovering over silent tears.

Thanks, and praises, O Lord, as we esteem,
Pray love, and guide, our wondrous Queen.

Was Deseronto's Post Office in danger last week? Their flag was flying upside down, this is usually a distress signal - why would the Post Office be sending an SOS? Perhaps the mail was unusually late that day.

PRESERVING TIME

BRANDIED CHERRIES

Wash and shorten the stems of 2½ pounds sweet cherries.

Pack 3 sterilized quart jars ¾ full and to each jar add:

1/4 cup granulated sugar
Fill with brandy and seal tightly.

Turn the jars upside down and reverse them end for end every hour for 4 hours to mix the sugar and brandy.

Store for at least 3 months before using.

PICKLED MUSHROOMS

In a saucepan combine:

1 1/4 cups white vinegar
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 bay leaf
1 clove

Bring to a boil and add:

2 - 10 oz. cans whole mushrooms, drained. Boil rapidly for 5 minutes. Strain liquid to remove garlic, bay leaf and clove.

Pack mushrooms in a sterilized jar. Fill with hot liquid. Seal and store for at least 1 week. Makes 1 pint.

ORANGE CUCUMBER PICKLES

Combine in a crock and let stand over night:

2 cups peeled (large) chopped cucumbers
3/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons salt
1/4 cup cold water

In the morning drain vegetables and discard liquid.

In food chopper grind peel of 1 1/2 oranges. Combine drained vegetables ground orange rind in a saucepan with 1/4 cup chopped pimiento
1 cup malt vinegar
1 cup lightly packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon mustard seeds
1/2 teaspoon celery seeds

Bring to a boil, reduce heat and boil gently for about 20 minutes or until desired consistency.

Ladle into hot sterilized jars and seal.

So-who's going to stop me?

One cow produces 75 pounds of waste products a day. One human produces about three. Five cows produce 375 pounds ... the equivalent of 125 humans.

And five cows are stirring up a lot of _____ in the Northport area right now.

A complaint has been laid against farmer Bert Lewis, owner of the cows, for letting them defecate in the Bay of Quinte. He may be facing a $5,000 fine if he doesn't keep them out of the water.

There are laws about what must be done with human waste. But the laws about cow manure are not so clear. And while the Ministry of the Environment is telling Mr. Lewis to clean up his act ... or else, the Prince Edward Federation of Agriculture is advising Mr. Lewis to fight back.

The following excerpts from the law and other sources point up the loopholes on both sides of the question.

Environmental Protection Act, 1971

Part II, Section 5(1). No person shall deposit in, add to, emit or discharge into the natural environment any contaminant, and no person responsible for a source of contaminant shall permit the addition to, emission or discharge into the natural environment of any contaminant from the source of contaminant in an amount, concentration or level in excess of that prescribed by the regulations.

But there is an exception: Subsection (1) does not apply to animal wastes disposed of in accordance with normal farming practice.

What is "normal farming practice"?

The "Agricultural Code of Practice" is a booklet published by three Ontario Ministries ... Agriculture and Food, Environment and Housing. It is designed to provide, among other things, methods to control water pollution caused by livestock watering at streams, ponds or lakes, and prevent pollution of water supplies.

Here's what it has to say about pasturing livestock beside streams and lakes. "For years, farmers have appreciated the advantage of being able to water livestock directly from lakes and streams adjacent to pastures. However, in many cases, farmers did little to control the pollution associated with this practice. Livestock cause erosion of the banks of the watercourse. The livestock defecate and urinate in the water as they drink.

"The only solution is to fence the livestock from the water and pump the water to them."

LOC-cleaning up their act

BY DAVE BURD

The quantity and quality of the emissions from the smoke stacks of the Lake Ontario Cement Plant, located on Picton Bay, have obviously improved over the past few years.

But periodic reports of high emission discharge during night operation of the plant and the spectacle of dust flying about the plant on windy days have kept this a controversial subject.

Just what is the present status of air pollution control at the cement plant? The Scanner decided to find out and talked with Jim Ferdinand, the man in charge of this aspect of plant operation.

At this time, there are two main devices used to control dust and gas emissions.

These include nine electrostatic precipitators installed by Joy Manufacturing Ltd. of Montreal, and 29 dust collectors which operate like giant vacuum cleaners to suck dust away.

The plant boasts the only electrostatic precipitator in Canada which is capable of collecting clinker (the basic ingredient used in making cement) which results after raw feed has been passed through huge drying kilns. The clinker, when ground in mills and mixed with varying amounts of gypsum, produces different grades of cement.

The two most obvious sources of pollution to anyone passing by the cement works, are the large cement stack which handles discharge from the original kilns (#1 and #2), installed 20 years ago, and the #9 stack, the most southerly of four identical stacks facing the east side of the plant.

According to Mr. Ferdinand, "there is at present a capital expense to clean up the old stack and the necessary equipment is still coming in."

There are precipitators installed in this stack, but they are of an older vintage and less efficient than modern precipitators.

Previously a device called a cyclone was used to control the emission of this stack. Cyclones act to collect dust through the workings of centrifugal force and are only 70 - 80 per cent efficient. Precipitators on the other hand, are almost 100 per cent efficient in the collection of dust particles.

Finding a job is hard work for students

There's an informal sort of race on between Napanee and Picton ... who's going to chalk up the most job placements for students during this summer.

Napanee has totalled 380 to date and is aiming at 500. Picton already has 500 under its belt.

Maybe those figures sound pretty unbelievable in these two "depressed and non-job" areas.

But don't get your hopes up that there is a general up-surge of employment opportunities here. Many of the job "placements" were for less than 5 days, and most jobs will be finished when the summer ... and the tourist season ... is over.

Canada Manpower Centres for students, operating with a $4.8 million budget, supplement the efforts of the 400 regular Canada Manpower Centres in helping students find summer work. A student is defined as someone who went to school this year and intends to go back in the fall.

"Picton has the edge on us," Bob

Sherman, manager of the Napanee Canada Manpower Centre for Students, says. "They have a lot of agricultural work there. In Napanee, many industries can't use people who aren't highly skilled."

Bob knows the area well. He lived in Deseronto for 20 years before his move to Napanee.

now wouldn't they?

Well, there I was the other day, riding round the field cutting my oats, thinking how short the straw is, and how it ain't going to make much bedding. Then I got to thinking about an auction sale notice I saw last week, up north of Napanee somewhere, where there must be a real old timer selling out, most of the stuff is horse drawn machinery, like we used to use when I were a young chap.

I kind of used to like working with the horses, better'n a tractor, they got more personality and you could talk to the team without feeling foolish. Folks would figger you were real dumb if'n you started in to talking to your tractor, Anyways, I got thinking how times have changed. Hardly any horses on the land, and all the new machines and such. That led me on to thinking about harvest time, how it's nearly here, and before I knew it I were humming some of the old harvest home hymns. Then I stopped to think of the words. Like Bringing in the sheaves - how many farmers nowadays do bring in sheaves? Not too danged many I tell you. That set me to thinking that pretty soon the young 'uns won't even know what the things were. When folks have forgot what sheaves and such are, then those old hymns won't mean nothing no more.

Reckon they're going to have to come up with some new ones pretty soon. But it seems to me that a hymn about a combine ain't near as religious somehow as one about golden sheaves. Can't seem to make too much poetry about a combine can you?

Reckon it'll be interesting to see how them religious song writers get round that one, don't you?

of money going down the drain when the cow manure ends up in the water.

Under a heading, "The Value of Livestock Manure", there is this information for farmers: "At 1975 fertilizer prices, one dairy cow produces manure which is the equivalent of $60 to $75 of commercial fertilizer per year. Livestock manure is an asset which will increase in dollar value as the price of energy and fertilizer increases. Ontario Minister of Agriculture and Food Extension Personnel can advise farmers interested in making maximum use of manure."

Editorial

People are funny. They'll grumble about paying their taxes and smile while they're paying out to the Government in another way ... buying their Wintario lottery tickets!

Now they KNOW they're going to get something for their taxes ... even if there are a lot of bites taken out for civil service salaries and other operating expenses.

But Wintario is a different matter. They MAY ... just may ... be a lucky winner of a cash prize. And their community MIGHT ... just might ... get part of the money back in a grant.

During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1977, the Ontario Government reported an Ontario Lottery Corporation profit of $76 million, almost double the $42 million for the previous year. This profit is listed under the revenue columns for the Province.

There must be a message here. Why not have us pay all our taxes on a lottery basis?

Just think of all the smiling faces there would be as the April 30th deadline rolled around ... that form you're filling out might just happen to be the one pulled out of the drum and ... eureka ... a tax refund!

Letters

Dear Sir:

I wonder how many other people in the rural areas of Prince Edward have the same problem we're facing now... no transportation?

There are a lot of older people in this county. Some have lived here all their lives and want to stay independent in their own country homes. Some, like us, have retired here.

Something we hadn't thought too much about was what we would do when we got to be a "certain age" or incapacitated in some way and lost our drivers' licences.

You need a car in this county. Where we live, the local store closed down a couple of years ago and the nearest country store is four miles away. Libraries, doctors, dentists and all such other necessities are more than 10 miles away.

We've got great 1 neighbours who will pick things up for us or take us into town on occasion. But we've been pretty independent all our lives and hate imposing on others.

Has anyone ever thought about a bus route in the county? The people at Queen's Park help get the kids to school every day... how about help for a dial-a-bus for us? Or maybe some enterprising person in the county could start a bus service to pick people up in the morning, take them to town and bring them back in the afternoon... possibly one or two days a week.

I bet they'd get a lot of customers. The family car (where there is one) is often away all day and young mothers in the country might like a shopping break.

It would be one way to cut down on gas consumption too... if we all travelled in one bus.

Have any of your readers got any suggestions for us?

CanadaWorks is your federal job creation program in Ontario, and it's ready to help your community organization or municipality serve your fellow citizens. But remember, the deadline for application is August 26.

Once again, you have the opportunity to create jobs and lasting benefits for your community.

If your idea is good, and your group has the will and the expertise to see it through, CanadaWorks may be able to provide the necessary funding.

Here's how to get things under way. Agree on a project you can all support. Think it through. How many jobs will it create? How much for salaries and other costs? Who will run the project on a day-to-day basis? Then go to your local Canada Manpower Centre or Job Creation Branch Office and pick up a CanadaWorks application and "Guide to Applicants". The application is not complicated, but please supply full details and fill it out clearly and accurately.

Please remember that your project, whatever it is, should make use of and add to the skills of the unemployed in your area, helping them to re-enter the work force on a full-time basis.

CanadaWorks is for your community. Your province. Your country. For all of us. So let's get working on some new ideas.

gas particles a negative charge and causes them to be attracted to the metal plates. Rappers periodically "tap" these plates and shake the dust into large hoppers which channel the dust into storage bins.

An instrument called a ramp step

It may look like something out of Dante's Inferno, but it is only a night shot of the Lake Ontario Cement Plant. The quality and quantity of emissions are not as bad as they were controls the amount of current passed through the wire mesh to prevent excess arcing (like lightning, but on a smaller scale) between wire and plate which prevents potentially harmful explosions from occurring due to the combustion of the gases passing through the precipitator.

Updated rappers and ramp steps are among the equipment being installed in the old stack. "At that point we shouldn't see anything coming from the stack."

The situation with stack #9 will be more costly to rectify, according to Jim. Unlike the relatively cool (180 degrees Fahrenheit) gases passing through her three sister stacks, the #9 stack precipitators handle unconditioned gas at a temperature of 650 degrees. At this temperature the gas particles have more difficulty holding a charge due to poor resistivity and more gas escapes through the stack.

Tenders are presently being accepted to determine the company to be chosen to construct a conditioning tower for the cooling of gases before they hit #9 stack's precipitator.

The present environmental law concerning stack emissions is tough and states the acceptable level is .02 grains of particles per standard cubic foot of gas. Precipitators, when properly used, are capable of meeting this standard.

The policy of Lake Ontario Cement, according to Jim, is to shut down any kiln if it is not possible to fix its malfunctioning precipitators externally. However, if the condition of gases emanating from any of the kilns becomes unstable, the precipitators are turned off until the gases return to an acceptable level. This produces the high emissions seen occasionally coming from cement plant stacks.

The plant used to run at higher production rates at night, causing an overload on the ability of the precipitators "because they could get away with it," but this apparently is not done any more.

The cement plant, like every large operation of its kind, is under a great deal of pressure to satisfy a certain rate of production. After shut-downs and work stoppages it seems likely that production rates are increased to catch up. This, in turn, must strain the ability of the precipitators, which are designed to handle a given quantity of gas per unit time.

Other sources of pollution are harder to control. These include the wind blown discharges of hoppers loading finished cement into freighters, and the leakage from ducts connecting kilns to smoke stacks.

The new measures being adopted by the cement plant to clean-up their act are admirable, providing they don't exceed the capabilities of clean-up equipment, installed to do the job, in that never ending quest for higher production rates.

Quinte News Round Up

THE DRAGONS ARE COMING!

Before anyone sends out an urgent call for a modern counterpart of St. George, a little explanation is in order.

These Dragons are not fire-breathing monsters, but are class racing yachts which have competed internationally for about fifty years. They came into being in 1928 in Norway from the drawing board of Johan Anker who designed the beautiful craft to compete with others of its breed in what is known as a one-design class. A one-design yacht is one in which all measurements and construction details closely conform to those of every other of its class with the object of providing competition in which the only variable is the skill of the crew.

During the week of August 13 to 20, the Prince Edward Yacht Club will be the host club to two Dragon events, the Duke of Edinburgh Trophy Series and the North American Dragon Championships. These events, like the two previous sailing competitions for Lasers and Six Metres will take place on the particularly suitable waters at the location of Hawkesbury Racecourse, Appleton Beach, just north of Picton. Dragon sailors are expected to compete.

As before, a public viewing site, provided by Lake Ontario Cement Ltd., will be available on the shore just north of their plant, off Highway 49.

SOME CONSOLATION

Even if you didn't win anything on the Wintario lotteries yet, at least you have the satisfaction of knowing that some of your money is coming back to your own home grounds.

Two more Wintario grants have been given locally. Ontario will pay $3,966 as Wintario's share of Ameliasburgh Township's cost to purchase musical instruments for the Ameliasburgh Township Band, and the First Napanee Beavers Cubs and Scouts will get $910.

ADOLPHUSTOWN COUNCIL

James Dennon was appointed inspector, under the Shoreline Property Assistance Act, at the meeting of the Adolphustown Township Council. This is a new position, approved by Council at a recent meeting.

His duties are to assess the need for work proposed in applications, the advisability of the type of work proposed and the compatibility of such work with adjacent properties, prior to approval of an application by Council.

One application is now pending the Inspector's report. The application came from Mrs. W. Carroll.

Council dealt with several applications for land divisions, and tenders were opened for the addition to the Township Hall. Tender for $16,000 from John Donnan Construction was accepted.

Mary Kaiser and Harold Allison were the two representatives appointed to represent Council on the Committee to Study Amalgamation. Mrs. Kaiser was also authorized to attend the meeting of CORTS this week.

YOU THINK THIS IS DRY?

Farmers in the Quinte area have been hard hit by the lack of rainfall this year.

But, how would they like to live in Calama, down in Chile?

A recent news report says no rain has ever been recorded in that town in the Atacama Desert.

FALLING STARS, UFO's ... DT's?

You may think you're seeing them all if you look up in the sky late on Thursday Friday and Saturday nights this week.

The earth, on its journey round the sun, is now plowing through a swarm of gravel and other space junk left behind by a comet. The results will be seen all around the world.

About 50 meteors an hour stream from the constellation Perseus. The space debris rides along the orbit of the Temple-Swift Comet which last passed the earth in 1967. The comet heads around the sun and back into the far reaches of the solar system.

This may be the last time it is seen. It's a fairly defunct comet, and if it returns at all, it won't be back until 2072. And there won't be many of us around then to see it.

Finding a job is hard work for students

the Scanner, a call came in for someone, right now, to help shingle a roof. Within 10 minutes, two boys were on their way to the job.

"We keep notes on their files showing whether they took such trade training as carpentry at school ... or maybe they have a woodworking hobby," he says. "We can usually get someone lined up in about 5 minutes."

Some of the jobs come in through the Young Canada Works Program. This program, according to a booklet handed out by the Manpower centres, is designed to "reduce" student summer employment generating projects in areas of community need.

Obviously, it should have read "increased", because that's what the program is doing in Napanee and Picton. Over 50 jobs in each of the two local offices came from these programs this year.

One of the Canada Works Programs is the Town of Deseronto's project for upgrading recreation areas and general clean-up. Six students were hired for these jobs.

In Napanee, the Land of Lakes Tourist Association has two students working in its information booth.

If possible, the projects try to give students work experience in their own field. Lennox and Addington has a summer recreation program for handicapped children ... a good place for a budding teacher to work.

Individual inquiries for help come in from the private sector ... industry and homeowners, but the managers of the centres do a lot of prospecting before the centres open in the spring.

Bob Sherman in Napanee and Janie Osborne in Picton have been on the job since February, visiting schools, groups, employers ... and publicizing the program.

And the work is paying off. Last year the Napanee centre had only 219 placements during the entire season, with almost double that (380) already this year. Picton had 380, with 500 to date this year.

In addition, circulars arrive listing student jobs available in other parts of the country.

Some of them sound pretty interesting, for example, this one ... river raft guide Williams Lake, B.C., four weeks, $25 a day, but you have to be experienced in the operation of inflatable rafts.

Students who do travel to get a posted job get their way paid there ... and, if they stick it out for six weeks or until the job is finished ... their way is paid back.

Napanee has sent two students to Goderich and one to Alberta. Right now they are lining up tobacco workers for western Ontario.

Ontario's Eye in the Sky

"You can just get so much knowledge by reading reports and discussing studies across a ministerial desk," Ontario's Minister of Energy and our local MPP, reports. "Then you have to get out and tramp the site to get the feel and perspective of it."

And that's just what Jim Taylor has been doing, since early August, getting a first-hand look at the Province's $136 million investment in new fuel resources.

It's a 10-day trip spanning Alberta's Coal Valley, the Syncrude tar sands and the proposed Polar Gas route from Canada's eastern Arctic islands.

Actually, not much of the trip is being tramped out on the ground. This week, he's flying the proposed Polar Gas route, a project in which Ontario Energy Corporation has invested some $10 million, to date, towards economic, environmental and engineering feasibility studies.

It's comforting to know that Ontario has an "Eye in the Sky" watching to make sure our money is well spent.

Kamal Rostom

The other day the Globe and Mail published the report of the task force of the Anglican Church of Canada, suggesting the lives of severely retarded children should be terminated at birth.

As expected, the report raised diverse repercussions amongst the clergy as well as the parents of the children. The 16 page report distributed to about 300 members of the Anglican Synod, maintains that severely retarded children should not be treated as human and defines humanness as "the capacity for man to relate to himself, with his neighbours, and with God."

Associations for the retarded said the report's suggestions amounted to advocating murder. On the other hand, some delegates to the general Synod meeting to be held Aug. 17 in Calgary, like Rev. H.R. Cooper, a Fredrick minister said that he approved of the report and is in total support of "passive termination of life" of severely retarded infants. He said life support systems should not be used to prolong the life of such babies. Another delegate, Ottawa lawyer Harrison Cleveland said he agrees that consideration should be given to terminating the life of newborns with gross neurological defects.

Fact of the matter is, the subject is an old one. Wolf Wolfensberger, one of the renowned supporters of Normalization in the field of mental retardation predicted in his major address to the annual meeting of the American Association of Mental Deficiency (AAMD) in Chicago, June 1976, that societies would resort to euthanasia as the last solution not only to the wretched lives of the mentally retarded, but also to the lives of the old and the sick. His statements raised objections mainly because, they came from a man who is considered one of the prominent authorities on Normalization, which calls for "letting the mentally retarded obtain an existence as close to the normal as possible", or "making available to the mentally retarded, patterns and conditions of everyday life which are as close as possible to the normal and patterns of the mainstream of society."

Wolfensberger's statements were a far cry from the principle he preaches, for Normalization as he conceives it is "utilization of means which are as culturally normative as possible in order to establish and/or maintain personal behaviours and characteristics which are as culturally normative as possible."

Thus, the major goal of Normalization is to open the doors of the institutions of the mentally retarded to mix as much as possible with the public and adopt acceptable behaviour patterns.

There is nowhere in the principle any mention of terminating the lives of the mentally retarded, on the contrary, the ultimate goal of the principle is to ensure that the handicapped people escape lives of deprivation, ridicule and frustration, which have for so long been their assigned destiny. An appropriate application of the principle means that people should have the opportunity to dress, behave and participate in activities that are appropriate and accepted as norms for their age group in the social milieu.

Authorities on mental retardation assert that there is a capacity to grow in the most severely retarded children, why then, do we pass a judgement of death on a considerable sector of our society when there is always hope of improvement and participation in the existent activities? These people have the right to live and the right to the best medical care available in the community. Those who call for terminating the lives of the mentally retarded commit in my opinion, and the opinions of many others, sheer murder. That is a setback to Nazism, and we don't want that abominable era to come again.

Pied Piper needed?

Last week, the Scanner talked about the dirty water flowing out of Picton's town dump, placed right in the middle of the town.

This week, another problem has come flowing out of the dump... a plague of rats, a town council is pretty upset about it.

At Monday's session of council, a petition, signed by residents of Mary and Bowery Streets, was submitted with a call for immediate action. Some of the numerous rats in the neighbourhood are reported to be as big as small cats and they are brave enough to come out in broad daylight.

Town clerk Andrew Jarvis said he had seen rats on Main Street recently, and blamed the appearance of so many rodents on an extermination program at the dump.

Another councillor, Russell Alexander, said that a representative from the Ministry of Environment had gassed the rats at the dump this summer and that was why the rats were all over now.

Gas makes them uncomfortable and they move. Now they are migrating up the hill that overlooks the dump and on to Mary Street.

The dump is baited on a regular basis, in addition to the recent gassing.

Town solicitor Jack Ward said the petitioners had contacted the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit and the unit had referred the matter to him.

It isn't likely the problem will be solved in the near future. The town may move the dump, or close it down, but meanwhile the rats are going their own merry way.

Another problem faced at the Picton council meeting was the fact that the increase in rural fires is placing too heavy a burden on existing fire equipment.

Fire chief Leonard Tripp suggested that a new pumper truck be purchased. Fire and safety committee chairman, Ross Cronkwright, said the present budget does not include money for a new truck and council will debate this further at a future date.

WAYSIDE EVANGEL

YOUR INIQUITY HAS SEPARATED YOU FROM GOD - ISAIAH.

"Have you experienced the fire?" Acts 2:3.

I was saying yes, yes, to what the Spirit was revealing of my soul's condition, acknowledging what was revealed to the last revelation and then the Fire fell burning out the recesses of my inner life (self) yet not consuming. The flood gates of Glory opened up in my soul.

Are you hungry for the blessing of Holiness? If so, you are on my prayer list.

Child injured in accident

Four-year-old Tracy Alkenbrack is still in the Lennox and Addington County Hospital, under observation for internal injuries, following a traffic accident on Highway 2, just east of Deseronto, last Saturday.

The little girl darted out from the south shoulder of the road and was hit by a vehicle driven by Duane Cuthill of R.R. 2, Napanee.

Tracy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Alkenbrack, R.R. 6, Napanee.

Investigating officer was Constable N. Marley, of the OPP detachment in Napanee.

Deseronto Legion News

BY ROSS CARRON

The various activities conducted by the Branch this summer have been very successful.

Legion Week proved to be a great event in the community. Marvin Brooks and his committee members, along with the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, did a great job and many people derived pleasure from their efforts.

Plans are underway for the Warriors' Day Parade in Toronto on August 20. The local Branch has, once again, been invited to attend Branch 606, Bay Ridges on the return trip. The trip is available to all members at a cost of $3.50 per person, with the Branch paying the balance. Anyone planning to go is advised to get their name on the list as soon as possible.

The Honours and Awards Banquet is scheduled for later this fall. Once again a full evening of events is planned.

If you are entitled to a 25, 30, 35, 40 or 50-year pin, or if you did not receive a Past Officers' Medal last year for previous service, please contact Comrades Al Fraser or Keith Brooks or the secretary, Ron Loader, as soon as possible. The pins and medals must be ordered in advance.

Among the other summer activities are the Bingo every Tuesday night and Saturday night entertainment in the downstairs hall. The Bingo is a year-round activity.

One executive meeting is planned for the summer, on August 15 at 8 p.m. All Committee Chairmen are requested to attend. The next general meeting will not be held until fall, on September 16.

Another planned September event is the Golf match which will be played at the Marysville Club on September 18 at 11 a.m. The match is for those who have played in either of the last two games.

Such a number of activities require a lot of work, and the chairmen of the committees report they are having trouble finding members who will work for them. The volunteers working on the committees are continually the same people.

An appeal has been made for everyone to offer to help where they can.

Deseronto library notes

The Deckhands Puppet Theatre Group will be returning to Deseronto on Wednesday, August 24 at 11:00 a.m. Everyone is welcome. Titles to be announced.

Beginning Monday, August 15 there will be a collection of books on antique collecting including such titles as "In a Canadian Attic" by Gerald Stevens, "The Early Furniture of French Canada" by Jean Polardy, "Antiquing from A to Z" by Michael de Forest and "All About Ontario Chests" by Elizabeth Ingoldfrud.

The library will be hosting the ROM "Museumobile" on Friday, August 12 from 2:00 to 5:30 p.m. This display of unusual rocks and fossils will be in Deseronto for one day only and should not be missed. It will be located in the park near the library and there is no admission charge.

Wintario draw in Picton

A Wintario draw in Picton, on Thursday, September 1, will kick off the events for the annual Gold Cup Races the following weekend.

But, in order to hold the draw, a temporary micro-wave tower will have to be set up, at a cost of $5,000.

John Sibthorpe, Gold Cup Race chairman, says, "Unfortunately, because of the high cost of the temporary tower, needed to achieve satisfactory transmission, we have to guarantee $1,500 of the cost of the show. We are doing this by selling 600 tickets at $3 and we hope the residents of the community will support us wholeheartedly."

Frank Wright, chairman of the Wintario Show for the Prince Edward Racing Club, sponsors for the Gold Cup Races, said that the show will be broadcast from the Prince Edward Collegiate Institute on September 1, at 7:30.

A group called the Concert Brass from Belleville will be featured on the program. Fees for the entertainment are being covered by Lake Ontario Cement Limited.

Chris Lockyer is in charge of the arrangements.

Advance tickets are on sale at Stanton Insurance and Williamson's Insurance, Main Street, Picton. Tickets can also be purchased at the door.

Enerfest first for Picton

The highlight of the Federal Government's Project Enersave, was the first "Enerfest", held last weekend in Picton's Prince Edward Curling Club.

Project Enersave began in this area back in May. The objective was to assist the public in conserving energy.

During the ensuing months, young people with armloads of literature and questionnaires called at homes to enquire into such areas as ... what is your heating system? ... do you have double windows? ... is your home insulated? ... and similar questions.

The same type of questionnaires were featured at one of the booths at the Enerfest, so householders who had not had the opportunity to participate could do so.

Results of all questionnaires have been forwarded to Ottawa and, in September, computer read-outs are expected.

Among other exhibits at the Enerfest were commercial displays from local insulating firms, from the Picton public library, which had a colourful display of books on sun, oil, manures and other energy sources; and an atomic energy display prepared by students employed locally with project Enersave.

A number of Picton car dealers displayed economy vehicles.

PRESERVING TIME

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES

Combine in a crock or bowl
16 cups thinly sliced cucumbers
1/2 cup coarse salt
8 cups sliced onion

Cover with ice cubes, let stand 2 - 3 hours or until cucumbers are crisp and cold. Add more ice if necessary. Drain.

In a large kettle combine:

4 cups white vinegar
5 cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon celery seeds
1 1/2 teaspoons turmeric
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1/2 teaspoon white pepper

Bring quickly to a boil and boil 10 mins. Add cucumber and onion slices and bring to boiling point.

Pack at once in sterilized jars. Seal and store in a cool place one month before using.

DILL PICKLES

Wash and cut off flower ends from 24 3-4 inch cucumbers. Cover with ice water and let stand 24 hours.

To each hot sterilized quart sealer add:

1 head of dill
1/2 sweet red pepper, sliced
2 cloves garlic sliced
1 teaspoon pickling spice
Pinch of alum

Bring to a boil

1 cup white vinegar
1/4 cup coarse salt
2 cups water

Pack cucumbers into prepared jars. Fill jars with hot vinegar mixture and seal. Makes 2 quarts.

TOMATO RELISH

Peel and chop 12 tomatoes.
Put through grinder
3 large peeled cucumbers
2 green peppers, seeded
4 large peeled onions

Combine vegetables and sprinkle with 1/4 cup coarse salt. Let stand 10 mins. and drain.

In large saucepan or preserving kettle combine drained vegetables and:

5 cups cider vinegar
4 cups granulated sugar

Bring to a boil and simmer until tender. Mix together

1/2 cup flour
4 teaspoons dry mustard
4 teaspoons turmeric
4 teaspoons celery seeds

Add a little of hot mixture to mustard mixture and then blend it into remaining hot vegetables. Continue cooking, stirring frequently until desired consistency is reached.

Ladle into sterilized jars and seal. Makes about 7 pints.

Tomato tariff renewed

The news that the surtax levied against imported canned tomatoes from Taiwan would be extended until June 30, 1978, was good news in the Quinte area.

"We couldn't compete," Dan Neilson, president of the Prince Edward County Federation of Agriculture, said. "They could ship them here cheaper than we could produce them."

The tariff was first introduced in February and imposes three cents a pound for tomatoes imported from Taiwan.

The extension will give time to prepare a stronger case for protective measures, according to Jack Ellis, MP for Hastings, who was instrumental in getting the legislation passed.

Mr. Ellis noted that foreign imports in the six month period prior to the original imposition of the surtax were 11.5 million pounds, compared with 4 million in the same period of the previous year.

CORTS hears complaints

Complaints focusing on environmental issues and boating difficulties on the Bay of Quinte came up for a lot of discussion at the public meeting held by the Canada-Ontario-Rideau-Trent-Severn Advisory Committee.

Chug-a-lug down drain

Jim Simpson has an unpopular job ... pouring good liquor down the drain.

As inspector with the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario, part of his work is to destroy booze which has been seized in a raid or because of illegal possession.

Liquor that is seized is sealed and held for evidence until after the charge has been heard and disposed of.

Then Mr. Simpson calls around at the police station, signs off the official form, breaks the temporary seals and pours it down the nearest sink.

Some police stations are visited on a regular basis. But not Deseronto. With smaller centres he waits until he gets a call from local police, telling him that they have enough of a supply to need his services.

Last week, in answer to a call from Deseronto Police Chief, Carl Beattie, he was in Deseronto to pour some three or four gallons into the police station sink.

Asked if he was ever tempted to drink any of it he said "No. You never know what is in the bottles. The seals usually have been broken."

One hazard of his job is the fumes that came up on a hot day from the mixture of juices!

in the Picton United Church Hall last week.

The CORTS Advisory Committee was formed by one provincial and one federal ministry in 1975. It is composed of two people appointed from each of the five sectors within the CORTS corridor. One of the most important functions of the committee is to report to the appropriate Ministers on public opinion with respect to development of the Rideau-Trent-Severn corridor.

The meeting was attended by both members of the Kingston/Quinte Sector Freeman Burrows and Jeff O'Brien, both of Belleville, as well as Lois Hastings of the Severn Sector.

In outlining the main concerns of the committee with regard to the Quinte sector of the corridor, Mr. O'Brien, meeting chairman, cited boat safety, including operation of sail boats in the Bay of Quinte, as one of the big issues. Other important issues include land development next to the waterway, weed harvesting (beneficial to fishermen), and the preservation of scenic, marsh and historical sites.

The problem inherent in any sort of development or preservation project is the clash between private and public interests.

R. Ahmed, planning director of Prince Edward County, presented a report suggesting that CORTS hire a consulting firm to determine the true cost of upgrading the Wellington breakwater, and submitted it to the advisory committee for further study.

Ruth Armstrong, chairman of the Citizens' Association of Wellington, emphasized the need of a proper channel and harbour for the town of *by Orville S.

Greenbush*

Well, I read about that feller over to Nanticoke who given a hard time about watering his cows down in the Bay, and by golly, I got all hot and bothered over it. First off, I figured that farmers round here been doing that ever since they cleared off the bush in the first place. And five cows didn't seem like too many on the water.

So I stomps in to tell Elmo, and there I were, ranting and raving and saving how the next thing will be that the danged government will be having us farmers following along behind our livestock with some sort of a pooper scooper, like folks in the city have to clean up behind their dogs. Have to be a super dooper pooper scooper too.

Anyways, Elmo listened to me holler fer quite a while, then she says to me "Orville Greenbush, you can't have it both ways," and that kind of shook me, "you go round complaining that the water is dirtier every year, and how great things used to be, and you sign your name to every petition that comes along, but as soon as they start in to cleaning up the farm, you gets mad."

You know I reckon as she's right, hate to admit it, she usually is. Figger I do a good bit of hollerin about all this mess round about, and how I hates progress and such, and I reckon I can't complain when the clean-up reaches me.

Guess I'll have ter figger out how to make one of them pooper scoopers after all, trouble is, once she's in the water, there ain't too much poop left to scoop, is there?

Editorial

Canadians have had very little say, in whether the country would go metric or not.

Back in 1970, we got the first indications of a change in the wind when the Federal Government issued a white paper recommending, in general terms, that Canada adopt the metric system at some time in the future. In 1975, the cabinet introduced a resolution asking the Commons to approve certain guideline dates for metric conversion. This was the only real opportunity MP's had to discuss the matter.

Now, it looks as if we're stuck with it.

Granted, there are some advantages in using metric measurements in manufacturing or in foreign trade, but there are other areas where the conversion will be costly, with no advantages, and, in some cases, even hazardous.

Changing of highway speed signs to metric is one example of a very dangerous effect the conversion could have.

The Ontario highways are going metric in September, and the Ontario Government is not going to give us any phase-in period. Any reference to miles per hour is to be suddenly removed and only metric signs will be displayed.

It's going to be a mighty confusing time for all of us. Instead of 30, we'll be driving around town at 50... kilometres, that is. And, on the highways, it will be 80 or 96(?) instead of 50 or 60.

Traffic accident statistics certainly indicate that a lot of people find it confusing enough getting around in traffic as it is. Why throw another curve at us?

The Ontario Government made a good... if a slow... start on reducing traffic accidents by finally accepting the overwhelming evidence that seat belts and lower speed limits DO save lives and reduce injuries, and legislating for them.

The instant introduction of a metric speed limit system, unfamiliar to most drivers, is a step backward.

Even if the people who live in Ontario were well informed in advance, what about all the tourists on our highways? With the natives going 50(kilometres) an hour and the tourists whizzing along at 50(miles) an hour, there would be bound to be a few crack-ups.

If the accident rate does go up during the immediate period following the change, the Ontario Government had better have a few answers ready to justify their decision for "instant" change.

Ellis tours arctic pipeline route for firsthand look

Jack Ellis, local MP, was one of six Federal members of Parliament who made a five-day tour of areas in the Canadian Arctic which would be affected by a pipeline decision. Purpose was to get first-hand information to Ottawa before the Parliamentary debate on the oil pipeline this month.

"The Mackenzie Valley Pipeline inquiry, as well as several other commissions and studies, have examined the social and economic impacts of a northern pipeline," Mr. Ellis said. "But the average Canadian is probably so baffled at this point that he knows more about the controversies over land claims by native people and environmental fears than he does about actual pipeline proposals.

Included in the tour were: Fort MacMurray's Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd., and the Syncrude Tar Sand project; Hay River, headquarters of the Crown Corporation--Northern Transportation Corporation Ltd.; Yellowknife, Northwest Territories; Norman Wells; Inuvik; Tuktoyaktuk; CANMAR Explorer III, 100 miles out over the Beaufort Sea; Fairbanks, Alaska; Prudhoe Bay and White Horse in the Yukon.

"The insensitivity of the Federal Government to the plight of the north was a recurrent theme throughout the entire tour," Mr. Ellis said.

"At Hay River, lifeline for every community along the Mackenzie River, it should have been the busiest season of the year. But 350 people were laid off from their jobs and the tugs and barges sat dry-docked. In anticipation of the construction of a Mackenzie Valley pipeline, the Federal Government poured millions of dollars into this area. Today, because of pipeline uncertainty, operations have ground to a halt."

At White Horse, he met with municipal and territorial councillors and reported, "While they are aware of the sociological impact that a pipeline would have on their community, they are convinced that they are quite capable of handling the impact and reducing it to a manageable level."

In Yellowknife, miners told him "The development of the north has to be given greater consideration."

He found great consumer inequity in Norman Wells, site of the longest-pumping and oldest oil well in Canada, and in Inuvik.

"In Norman Wells, beer was in plentiful supply and inexpensive in comparison with a quart of milk which cost about $1.50," Mr. Ellis said. "It doesn't help to know that the Federal Government subsidizes beer and gives liquor top priority on shipping barges, yet doesn't devote any attention to the families who do not have fresh meat and vegetables."

"The vision of John Diefenbaker to build roads to these locations must be carried out," he said. "The fact that, in 1964, Lester Pearson put a stop to road construction in the north has clearly affected the north detrimentally."

In Tuktoyaktuk, the majority of the people did not want to see any Federal Government edict that would force them back to the "land" for their livelihood, Mr. Ellis reported. "They are so confident that safeguards could be worked out to protect the environment that they would welcome the pipeline."

In Fort MacMurray, conditions were completely different than those in Hay River. Mr. Ellis described it as a "boom town which directly reflects the accelerating development of the Athabasca Oil Sands."

Two years ago, the governments of Alberta, Ontario and the Federal Government contributed to the project. Ontario invested $100 million.

Construction of the $2 billion Syncrude Tar and Sand Project has reached the 80 per cent mark.

Estimated reserves are about 300 billion barrels.

A pleasant change of pace

Tired of reading about murders, violence and all the other horrors?

Here's a nice change of pace.

A slim booklet, "Kaladar and Other Stories" has just come off the press.

Written through the years by Agnes Gillette, now of Nanapanee, the stories chronicle some of her adventures when she, and her grey cat, left Toronto for an isolated farmhouse.

The author is now living in the Senior Citizen Apartments. Other people in the building were busy with their hobbies so she decided sit down, polish up the stories written in the past, and publish them.

The book is delightfully illustrated with sketches of goats, dogs, cats and other creatures.

The tranquil waters of the Bay of Quinte were under discussion at the CORTS meeting - "Most polluted water in Ontario"

Wellington. The association, she pointed out, "has gone through all the local government channels as well as such organizations as the Quinte Isle Tourist Association and the Yacht Club."

She added that the channel has not been dredged since 1968 and, despite a detailed brief submitted to George Haes in that same year and communications with Minister of State Hugh Faulkner, no action has been taken yet.

According to Mrs. Armstrong, the price quoted by the government for dredging the 100-foot canal is $750,000. She also pointed out the danger to boaters caught in storms seeking shelter in the town which is marked on lake maps as being a safe harbour.

Several boating enthusiasts expressed concern over the lift bridge schedules of both the Bay Bridge at Belleville and Murray Canal Bridge.

Jack Evans of Trenton suggests that both bridges should abandon the fixed schedules that they now operate under in favour of an open system which would operate according to the volume of boat traffic passing beneath the bridges.

During peak traffic times the bridge would continue to operate on a fixed schedule. Otherwise, he feels that there is the possibility of boats going on the rocks during heavy winds.

A Mr. Harry Smith went so far as to say the "Bay Bridge is a hazard if not opened at least every half hour." The bridge and the weeds constitute two serious hazards as far as Mr. Smith is concerned.

On the subject of weeds, several citizens had comments to make about the large numbers of weeds present in Presqu'il Bay.

Don O'Neill, president of the Presqu'il Yacht Club says that what has been done thus far concerning the weeds is "too little, too late."

Both Mr. Burrows and Mr. O'Brien of the advisory committee responded to this comment by saying that they found the situation unsatisfactory. According to Mr. Burrows, the Coast Guard is responsible for clearing the weeds. Last year the weeds were not cleared until September.

This year the job was finished in July. "They found the Coast Guard cutter couldn't make it through the weeds, so something was done about it," said Mr. Burrows.

Several people present had complaints about the air and water pollution and some of these were directed at the Lake Ontario Cement Plant on Pictou Bay. Richard Hart, a local sailor, in expressing his displeasure read directly from his log written on the day that his sail boat was engulfed by dust from "a particularly large blast". He spoke of the "wanton irresponsibility by Lake Ontario Cement for public safety", during an emotional presentation, and suggested that CORTS should refer to the RCMP about a possible misuse of dynamite by the cement plant.

Mr. Wineman, a representative present from LOC added that he had not heard anything in the way of complaints about the blast that day.

A couple from Detroit who are summer residents of the county, have a cottage near the cement plant. They both had complaints about the increasing pollution they have observed.

Mrs. Bachofer has been monitoring the cement plant, usually every day since June 1 and says, "a lot of stuff has been coming out of the plant every day." Although she has contacted the Ministry of the Environment, she claims to have had no action from them.

Mr. Bachofer then told the audience that according to a 1975 Detroit newspaper report, the "Bay of Quinte is the most polluted body of water in Ontario." He said he believed that.

Referring to a 3 1/2 mile stretch along the Napanee River, chairman Jeff O'Brien commented that "The pollution is so bad in some places, even the weeds can't grow. The water's not fit for human contact, let alone human consumption."

But it was Dr. Donald Misener, former director of the Great Lakes Institute, University of Toronto, and now a resident of the county, who put the situation back into perspective. "The responsible parties in much of what you talk about are yourselves."

He explained that the green scum present in polluted waterways was caused largely by the phosphate present in detergents. "We can spend a lot of money to remove pollutants from the sewer. The public are the responsible people because of what they use."

Mr. O'Brien summed up the arguments by pointing out that some municipalities have tertiary treatment to remove phosphates but that such treatment is very expensive.

Round Up

Ontario Hydro is cutting down its power...but only for two one-hour periods, next Tuesday. From 10:15 to 11:15 in the morning and, in the same time slot, in the evening, there'll be a five percent voltage reduction.

Purpose of the test, usually done twice a year by Hydro, is to pinpoint potential problems before the approaching winter season with its heavy demands.

The people out near Black Creek Cheese factory could pinpoint one problem area for them right now... five hours without electricity one cold night last winter was no fun. But the telephone lines were kept hot that night by irate residents trying to get hold of someone who could...or would...do something about it.

It's pretty hard to find jobs in this area. If you do happen to find one, and it's going to last for a few weeks, don't count on being able to collect unemployment insurance at the end of it. The Federal Government has introduced a new "numbers game". Whether you get unemployment insurance depends not only on how long you worked but on what the unemployment rate is in your area.

And Prince Edward and Hastings Counties wouldn't qualify for the best deal, based on July unemployment figures.

Claimants have to have worked anywhere from 10 to 14 weeks. In Prince Edward, with a July unemployment rate of 6.4%, it would be 13 weeks of work to qualify. In Hastings, with a 7.1% rate, it would be 12 weeks.

If you're an artist, living in Prince Edward County, and you like to picture the local scene, here's your chance to let other people have a look at your work and, possibly, win a prize.

Lake Ontario Cement Company is looking for entrants for the 13th annual Artist of the Year award, to be presented during the Prince Edward County fall fair, scheduled for next month.

Entries must be original and should be of any identified scene or place or special feature of the county.

An Educational Museum, first of its kind for Ontario, will be opening in Bloomfield next month.

Children will be able to come to the museum and see what schools were like "back in the good old days".

The museum will feature old exams, old classroom photos, desks with inkwells, and other classroom equipment.

Children will be encouraged to discuss old methods and compare them with today's.

Tours will come from schools in the area and each area school will have its own section in the museum for displays and records.

Parents could insist schools prepare written policies on the content of sexual material and foul language in texts or films used in classrooms, Rev. Ronald Marr of Ridgeway, president of the Council for National Righteousness, advised those attending a seminar-service on "School System Morality in a Christian and Biblical Perspective" in Picton.

He said sex education in the schools was forced upon parents, not at their request but by university-educated teachers in "Ivory towers".

Another suggestion from Rev. Mr. Marr was a parent-school board monitoring committee to reflect community standards.

Kamal Rostom

I, for one don't believe in extra-sensory perception. Perhaps it is because in all my life I have never met the proper person who could convince me of the phenomenon. The other day I was invited to attend a ouija seance somewhere in downtown Picton. I hesitated for some time then made up my mind to join the group.

I have read a lot of literature on ESP and it goes without saying that even the youth nowadays are very interested in the subject (observe, for example, the tremendous number of young people who watch TV films based on the supernatural). In our days, we used to poke fun at anything beyond the existing world, and look at it as sheer superstition. Some of these suspicions are still lurking in my mind, and I still remember that every time I went for a Tarot card reading, tea leaves or coffee ground reading, I used to get out of the experience more convinced of the invalidity of the phenomena than before.

Anyhow, I went to the seance. A beautiful lady of 26 or thereabouts, considered by her friends to be an excellent medium, told us before starting the operation of the Ouija board that the name "Ouija" is a compound of the french and german words for "yes", and has been coined in 1893.

She and her husband put their finger tips on the glider, and she asked whether there was a spirit present. The glider moved to the word "yes". Then she asked the spirit about its name and it answered "John Turner". She then began to ask the supposed spirit questions and receive answers to the satisfaction of those present.

But, it seemed to me that they pushed the glider to obtain the desired answers. And again, I went out of the experience more convinced of the invalidity of at least the operation, if not the phenomenon itself. I had read somewhere in a book that "when favoured people rest their finger tips on the little glider it moves, though they are not conscious of having made the required effort. Not only that, but it moves from letter to letter and spells out messages. But, and it is a big but, the other experimenters exerted tremendous efforts to rule out any suspicion concerning the pushing of the glider to the desired answers. For this purpose, Sir William Barrett, the distinguished Dublin physics professor who was the chief founder of the S.P.R. (Society of Psychical Research) made an experiment to make sure that the results obtained by the Ouija board were valid. Thus opaque eye screens were made and fastened over the eyes to prevent vision.

There are other experiments reported in Sir William's book "On the Threshold of the Unseen" directed at obtaining valid results.

What I want to say is that whoever wants to operate a Ouija board must duplicate one of the authentic methods described in the book. If he really wants to convince us that a spirit is present and that the messages delivered are really from the other world.

They put on a Carnival to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Working from a kit of carnival suggestion materials, provided by the Association, they set up a fish pond, fortune telling booth and other displays at 353 Thomas Street on Tuesday.

Youngsters involved were Cindy, Kenny and Leslie Sparks, 353 Thomas Street; Sherri Brooks, 366 Thomas Street; Michele and Penny Lalonde, 92 Prince Street, and Carol Ellerbeck, Odessa.

150 million year trip

Some 450 million years ago, Ontario was a sparkling tropical sea, with inhabitants like those of a modern-day Pacific or Atlantic coral reef. There were corals, and sponges, and worms, and starfish, and snails, and clams, and crabs and other animals, whose skeletons are found today as fossils in the rock.

That's just one of the fascinating facts, discovered by adults and children who visited the Royal Ontario Museum's "Fossils of Ontario" Museumobile in Deseronto, Picton and Bloomfield last week.

"I think it's cool! ... 'Is it ever neat' ... 'I like it' ... were some of the comments from the youngsters.

And from the adults ... "Enlightening to see the stages of the world" ... "The fossils are great, but how do you say their names?"

Walking through the ROM display was like walking down through 150 million years of the world's existence. Each flashing light in the display represented the passage of at least one million years, and each foot covered 10 million years of the rock and fossil record in Ontario.

Tom Linderoos, a former elementary school teacher, and now "interpreter" for the Museumobile, had the youngsters and their parents "hanging on his words" as he brought the display to life for them.

At the end of the summer he will be taking the Museumobile around to schools across Ontario.

"The display was extremely successful and created a lot of interest," Heather Granatstein, Deseronto librarian reports.

She had placed books on rocks and fossils on display in the library in advance. After seeing the Museumobile people came in to get the books and learn more about this interesting topic.

The Fossils of Ontario bus started operation in 1973. An archeology display, in a similar Museumobile has been on the road since 1972, and an "Ethnobotany" is a new addition. This van carries displays on native people which can be taken out and set up in a variety of locations.

THE DESERONTO REPORTER

News and events of specific interest to the residents of the Town of Deseronto

Wednesday, August 17, 1977

Jack Ellis, MP for Hastings, lists aerial photography among his other accomplishments. Here he is presenting an aerial photograph of the Sheller Globe plant to plant manager Dean Stauffer. Another print of the same photo has been sent to headquarters in Toledo

Residents complain

R. Dawson was present at the meeting of the Deseronto Town Council, August 8, to find out what action had been taken on the petition, presented to Council previously, concerning the height of the new pavement on Highway 2.

The situation has been checked by Greer, Galloway and Associates, and by the Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Communications. Tom Murphy, MTC district engineer, re-affirmed that the highway is according to plan.

Council received a request from the Ministry of Housing for more information with respect to the town's application for funding. In order to get certain Provincial grants, for example low income housing, a municipal housing statement is required.

The Ministry would pay for a housing study and would also do the study for a community with less than 5,000 people, but they would not be able to do it for about a year.

Council decided to go ahead and hire someone to do it.

The land use by-law, which has had two readings, came up for discussion. Council received a request from Harold Lloyd to reconsider its previous decision to zone "commercial" the lot between his property and the Deseronto Mallory Service Station.

It was decided to take another look at this situation before the by-law receives third reading.

A letter requesting a donation to the Cobalt Disaster Fund was turned over to the Finance Committee for decision.

Action had already been taken on two requests Council received previous to the meeting. The street light in front of the home of Mrs. June Thompson had been up-dated, as recommended by the Public Utilities Commission, and a culvert installed under the driveways of Brian Neer and Paul Nobles, Maple Avenue.

The Streets and Parks Committee reported they would be holding a meeting with the consulting engineers who are preparing a road needs' study for the town. The report is not complete yet.

Reports were received from the Fire and Police Committee and the Recreation Committee.

Happenings

Mrs. Horace Thompson (Dorothy), a former resident at Green Point, is enjoying a vacation at Bayside Cottage R.R. #2, Picton. She is accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Isabelle Ellis.

Mrs. Thompson has been living in Ottawa for several years but likes to drop in and see her friends in Prince Edward County every summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sevcik of Bramalea spent the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don MacMillan. Also recent visitors were Paul's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kramera of Burlington.

Mrs. Kim Suggashie, Mrs. Violet Barbier and Peter Barbier of Kingston, also Miss Ursula Stieme of Windsor, spent a few days at the home of Mrs. Kay Hood and her father Albert Reed, last week.

Recently visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Cummings, 96 Mill St., were their cousins Mr. and Mrs. George Cook, Oneida, N.Y.

and their only son Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cook from Ballstone Lake N.Y. and their three daughters, Lora, Jodie and Cathy.

Over the past weekend Miss Louise Crawford of Eatons Toronto, visited her friends Mr. and Mrs. Merton Cummings, 96 Mill St. While she was visiting, Miss Crawford and Mrs. Cummings drove to Ottawa, Saturday, seeing the Parliament Buildings and had a tour of Ottawa, returning home by way of Kingston on Sunday, visiting several friends and relatives and home Sunday evening. Miss Crawford returned Monday to Toronto.

Deseronto Recreation News

BY JACK LAYFIELD

Now that summertime is fast drawing to a close, it is once again time to start planning for the winter season ahead.

Two meetings of particular interest to hockey enthusiasts are scheduled for this week. The first one, on Wednesday, August 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Centre Hall has been called to complete plans for a six-team Industrial Hockey League for Deseronto and District. It is expected teams will be entered from Deseronto, the Mohawk Reserve, Point Ann, Lansdale and possibly Napanee. The league is scheduled to operate twice weekly on Mondays and Fridays from 7-11 p.m. at the Deseronto Arena.

The second, and very important meeting has been called for Sunday evening, August 21, 7:30 p.m. at the Community Centre Hall to organize the Deseronto District Minor Hockey operation for another season. Anyone interested in helping with Minor Hockey should plan to attend.

Another organizational meeting to be held in September, is the annual meeting of the Canteen Auxiliary. This operation is so important to the success of the arena from year to year, and requires a great number of participants to make it work properly.

Last season's workers will be advised of the date of this meeting, and anyone else interested in helping out is asked to contact the arena at 396-3432, or any present member of the auxiliary.

Later in August, or early September registrations will be held for Figure Skating classes, and also for a Power Skating instructional class which proved so beneficial last season for many youngsters just learning to skate.

Tentative scheduling of ice time for this season is now underway. Public skating sessions will once again be scheduled for Sundays and Wednesdays with a special "Adult Only" skating period introduced on a trial basis. Local groups interested in booking ice time on a weekly basis should do so without delay since there is very little prime time left to choose from.

Don't forget the annual "Firemen's Ball" at the arena on Saturday, Sept. 10. Advance tickets are now on sale at $6.00 per couple from any fireman.

Deseronto library notes

The library will again be showing free films for children this week on Thursday, August 18. Preschoolers 1:00 p.m. and Juniors 2:00 p.m.

We would like to make a correction of the date of the puppet shows which will be performed by the "Deckhands". The performances will be held Thurs. August 25, at 11:00 a.m. and not Wednesday, August 24 as previously announced.

We are completing the work on our circuit display portraying the Town of Deseronto. Anyone having any information of interest is still welcome to contact Mrs. Granatstein at the library.

Don't miss the interesting collection of antique books which went on display at the library on Monday, August 15.

Deseronto accident

David Bryan Doreen, 23, of RR 2, Deseronto, has been charged with impaired driving, following a traffic accident on Dundas Street, east of George Street, Monday afternoon.

He was the driver of a 1970 Buick owned by Dennis R. Maracle, 182 Centre Street, which collided with a telephone pole. Mr. Maracle was a passenger in the car.

Damage to the car was $2,500 and, to the pole, $150.

Mr. Doreen was taken to the hospital in Napanee and required several stitches to his head.

Youths charged

Five Deseronto youths have been charged with theft. Charges were laid following two instances, on August 7 and 9, when gas was siphoned from buses at the Sheller-Globe plant.

Those charged were Brian Clark, Ricky Clark, David Hart, Dale Loney, and Earl Harrow.

Two others were charged with possession of stolen gas. They were Raymond Rendell and Brian Rendell.

HELEN'S GOURMET BEETS

In season you can use fresh beets, or use 1 tin or jar of whole beets. The latter method is quicker because canned beets are already cooked.

Drain cooked beets. Slice into a sterilized jar.

In a small saucepan bring to a boil
2/3 cup white vinegar
1/3 cup lightly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon dried parsley

Fill prepared jar with hot vinegar mixture. Seal. Makes 1 pint.

CELERY CHUTNEY

In a large saucepan combine:

16 cups finely chopped celery (6 large heads)
3 cups finely chopped onion
6 ounces dry mustard
3 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 quarts white vinegar (7 1/2 cups)
2 ounces mustard seed
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/4 teaspoons oil
1/4 teaspoon cayenne

Bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer uncovered for 3 hours.

Combine to a paste

3 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons cold water.

Stir into hot mixture and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Simmer 20 minutes longer. Ladle into pre-sterilized jars and seal.

Makes about 5 quarts.

WATERMELON PICKLES

2 lbs. watermelon rinds
1 4 cups granulated pickling salt
2 cups sugar
1 cup white vinegar
1 tablespoon broken stick cinnamon
1 1/2 teaspoons whole cloves
1/2 lemon, thinly sliced
5 maraschino cherries cut in half

Trim dark green and pink parts from rind and cut in 1 inch cubes. Measure 7 cups. Soak overnight in solution of salt and water (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water). Drain and cover with cold water. Cover with cold water and cook until just tender.

Meanwhile combine sugar, vinegar,

1 cup of water and spices. Simmer 10 minutes and strain. Add drained rind, lemon and cherries and simmer until rind is clear. Fill hot jars to 1/2 inch from top with rind and syrup. Adjust lids and process in boiling water bath 5 minutes (start timing when water returns to boil).

Makes 2 1/2 pints.

PEACH RUM JAM

3 lbs. fully ripe peaches, scalded, peeled and finely chopped. (4 cups)
1 (1 3/4 oz.) package powdered fruit pectin
5 cups sugar
1/4 cup light rum

Combine chopped peaches and fruit pectin in a very large saucepan or Dutch oven.

Place over high heat and bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Immediately add sugar and stir. Again bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and stir in rum. Skim off foam, stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent fruit from floating.

Ladle into hot scalded jars, seal at once. Makes about six 1/2 pint jars.

PEACH JELLY

First prepare juice. Pit (do not peel) about 2 1/2 quarts soft ripe peaches. Crush thoroughly. Add 1/2 cup water. Bring to boil and simmer covered for 5 minutes.

Place in jelly bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure 3 cups into a very large saucepan and add 6 1/2 cups sugar (2 3/4 lbs.). Mix well and place over high heat. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in 1 bottle Certo fruit pectin, then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stir stirring constantly. Remove from heat skim off foam with metal spoon and pour quickly into jars. Cover at once with 1/8 inch hot paraffin wax. Makes about 9 medium size glasses.

Seniors Club gets charter

Sophasburgh Over Sixty Club held a Pot Luck Supper on Monday, August 1, at Bethesda Hall on the Fish Lake Road. There was a good turn out of club members, and guests at the head table included Mrs. Alvina Hamilton, President of the Bloomfield Club, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Blair and Reeve George Foster and Mrs. Foster.

The Reeve brought greetings from the Township Council, Mr. Ellis Blair Executive Member of the United Senior Citizens of Ontario, presented the Club with their charter, the 915th club in Ontario to be so honoured.

Reeve Foster and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Greenwell of Northport became new members, increasing the club membership to 43.

After supper a short meeting was held. A draw was made for a macramé hanging basket with a bowl of fruit, made and donated by Kay Ruskin. It was won by Viola Smith. The evening ended by playing euchre which was enjoyed by all.

The next meeting is to be held on Monday, September 5 at 7:30 pm in the Church Hall, Demarestville, and all interested persons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

LESS AMERICAN MONEY

Merchants worried

By DAVE BURD

Tourism is alive and healthy in Prince Edward County but there is a trend developing in the local tourist scene which has some people, particularly the merchants, upset.

Despite the massive advertising campaign mounted by the Government of Ontario in recent years, the number of Americans vacationing in the Province and the County seems to be on the decline.

Gordon Giroux runs a men's clothing store on Main Street, Picton, and is acutely aware of the decrease in the amount of American dollars being spent at his store.

"There's a lot less American cars on the street," he commented, in comparing the present situation to what it was even ten years ago.

The out-of-county visitors shopping in his store now are mostly campers who "buy only what they need". This situation alters somewhat during the month of September he has observed, when an older, more moneyed group of tourists come into his store to buy presents.

Mr. Giroux attributes the fall off of American travellers to a number of factors, including the poorer quality of fishing due to pollution of local waters and the closing of the old summer resort hotels, like Lakeshore, in the county.

He also cites such factors as the lack of licensed dining rooms until quite recently and the high costs of travelling for families, particularly in Canada where the price of food and accommodation are higher than comparable services in the States. He also feels that Americans are by-passing the county in favour of less spoiled vacation spots lying farther north.

Bill Smith owns and operates Waupoos Lodge on Smith's Bay, near the village of Waupoos. He is past president of the Quinte Isle Tourist Association and currently serves as its director.

He agrees that American business is down, according to 60 to 80% of the resort owners who are members of the Association. This, he believes, can be partly explained by the switchover of cottage resorts to self-contained house-keeping units without dining room service, which is pretty well extinct.

As far as his own clientele is concerned, 80%, he estimates, come to his lodge for the fishing. Although there was a four-year period between 1972 and 1976 when the fishing was extremely poor, it is picking up again.

According to an official of the Ministry of the Environment in Kingston whom Mr. Smith spoke with, the fish in Smith Bay have migrated from a variety of different locations and are far enough away from polluting influences to be considered good eating.

Raising the roof

"They literally, 'raised the roof' at Deseronto's Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer last week when the 96-year-old top of the steeple was lifted off to be replaced by a new one.

"It was a smooth operation. There was a pigeon's nest in the steeple and we didn't hurt the birds a bit," Don Ellis, of Ellis Construction Belleville, said.

The original steeple had, in addition to four corner towers, a tall, thin spire built at the same time as the church in 1881. About 10 years ago, the spire was taken down because of deterioration and the remaining roof and four towers were covered with metal.

Now the whole thing has been replaced and after outside renovation work is also under way.

Total cost of the renovation is in the neighbourhood of $20,000.

Mrs. Dorothy McCullough, who lives at the corner of St. George Street and Highway 2, has been a member of the church since she came to Deseronto as a bride in 1926. Her husband was a druggist here.

"We have the money for the renovation, raised and saved over the years," she said. "About 10 years ago, we renovated the inside of the church and now we're painting, renewing glass and doing other outside jobs."

SENIOR'S RENT INCREASES

Hard to understand

Some of the people living in the Senior Citizen apartments in Picton have voiced their concern about recent raises in rent.

A check into the situation shows that, yes, many rents are going up a bit and why.

Rents are geared to income. They are reviewed once a year and go up if income has increased.

Picton's apartments were opened about one year ago. During the year, there have been several raises in the Old Age pension. This pension is now tied in with the cost of living and reviewed four times a year. There have been several raises during the past year and these are reflected in the raises in rents in some of Picton's senior citizen apartments.

"If income increases during the lease year, there is no increase in rent until the time of the annual review, but rent can be reduced during the lease year if income goes down," Kaye Kokesh, manager of Hastings, Prince Edward and Belleville Housing Authority says.

There are a few cases where an annual lease is not in effect immediately.

"Sometimes it's difficult to tell what the income is when a tenant first goes in," Ms. Kokesh says. "The tenant may not yet be quite old enough for old age pension, or may still have property to sell."

Don Ellis, Belleville, directs the replacement of the Church of the Redeemer steeple from the ground. With him are Mrs. Dorothy McCullough and Carroll Sergeant.

Well, sure is good to tell that we've got to the back end of the summer, ain't it? Thought at first that the rain was just summer showers, but she's been going on too long for that. Nope, it's the fall rains alright. All the other signs is there as well. Elma's in the kitchen, canning and pickling like all get out, so that word must be of been a couple of thousand crows all gathered together at the weekend, a real crow's parliament, and the other day I was driving along the shore from Northport towards Demorestville and every wire as far as I could see was just covered with swallows. I never recall seeing that many at a time. Reckon fall's on the way sure enough.

Then there's the other signs we always get at this time of the year. All them kisin' cousins from the city figger just about this time, that they can just fit in one more visit before the weather turns. Our house has been like a railway station these past couple of weeks. Elma keeps telling me that I should know 'em all, but I ain't too sure. I got my suspicions that she's running a hot lot on the side. We no sooner pack one lot off than another one arrives.

Like I was saying, there's always sure fire signs of the time of year. Like our plumbing. These here city folk don't have no sense at all. They figger that water is never ending. Our toilet seems to be flushing every couple of minutes. Well, we got a real good well, so we ain't run out yet, but it sure is hard on my old pump, and every year at this time I figger on her going wrong.

Sure enough, it happened Sunday night. The bathroom had sounded like Niagara Falls all day long, and about supper time I cocked an ear and figgered the old pump was beginning to wheeze a bit. Sure enough she seizes up, and I can tell you that I don't think sitting in the cellar fixing up a pump is anyway to spend Sunday evening.

So happened I couldn't fix her with out going up street for a part, so all them visitors had to make do with the old privy for the night.

I figgered that should learn 'em. No thing like a trip to the outhouse on a nippy evening, is there?

Letters

Dear Editor:

What's happened to all the Good Samaritans in Deseronto?

It's been hard to get around the main street with all the paving work that's been going on and, the other day, I took a bad fall on the half-finished curbing.

Not a soul came to give me a hand, although there were plenty of people around.

They watched me while I sat and nursed my sprained ankle, but no one came to help.

There's a lot of talk about big-city folks "minding their own business and not getting involved". Let's hope the same blight hasn't reached Deseronto yet.

Concerned Citizen

Dear Editor:

It amazes me that some people, in their efforts to degrade Canada's conversion to the metric system, continually argue that the system is far too confusing for the ordinary mortal to handle. Surely you go far beyond degrading the system--you insult the intelligence of average Canadians and Americans.

Of any of the metric conversions which we have faced, and will face, the simplest involves distance. Since 1974 most cars have had kilometres included on their speedometers, and these cars probably make up the bulk of those on the road. For others, conversion stickers will be available. In extreme cases, such as with American tourists, a simple conversion ratio of 8 kilometres to 5 miles doesn't seem too great a task to complete.

Your suggestion that a phase-in period would have been appropriate is nonsense. People will become used to it during the first day kilometers distances are in general use.

If anyone is so foolish as to really believe the limit on the 401 is 100 miles per hour, or the limit down a quiet residential lane is 50 miles per hour, they shouldn't be on the road in the first place.

"It's going to be a mighty confusing time for all of us." I think the Scanner can count a few of us out -- those that completed grade 2 mathematics.

Mark Weidmark

Editorial

The Federal Government is really going all out to help the unemployed get jobs.

We've got a new Employment Minister (that's one new job created and already filled) presiding over the new Canada Employment and Immigration Commission... which is just a rejoining of the manpower and unemployment services which were split into the two areas 10 years ago.

But the Government has done more than that for us. Now they're letting us in on the secret of what all employers should be looking for... well dressed help.

The government is asking employers to report unkept job seekers as possible insurance benefit cheaters who are not seriously looking for work.

So, if you are lucky enough to hear about a job (there have been times when there was not one single job listed on the boards in the Picton Manpower office), and you get a crack at an interview, wear your Sunday best.

It's not likely, of course, that you'll have a Sunday best if you've been out of work for any length of time. Maybe some of your friends can lend you some decent clothes... if they've got a job.

What a lot of securely-employed people like civil servants seem to forget... if they ever knew it... is that clothes, and hair cuts and even soap cost money.

It's easy for someone with a wardrobe full of clothes to look neat and tidy every day. But, when you're out of work, and have only one outfit that has to be washed out and, hopefully, dry by morning, it's a different matter.

Maybe the government should change its tactics and start advising employers that the fellow who "comes as he is" and gets there first just might be the eager beaver they've been looking for.

Open Letter to the Citizens of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties

Over the past ten months, certain citizens interested in the provision of health care, both from the providers' and consumers' standpoint, have been meeting as a Steering Committee at the instigation of the Ministry of Health to determine if our area would benefit from the creation of a District Health Council as has already occurred in many areas of Ontario.

As a result of our deliberations and discussions, it has been agreed that this concept should be presented to the people of Hastings & Prince Edward Counties to examine the benefits in terms of possible improvement in the expenditures of health dollars with increased input from citizens consumers, and providers alike. The Steering Committee members are prepared to meet groups of interested citizens to discuss the implications of the formation of a District Health Council and to receive any information or provide any information requested.

Any such requests, for information, or personnel of the Steering Committee to attend meetings are welcome.

It is intended to call general meetings of interested persons in the Fall of 1977 to finalize the work of the Steering Committee, and to nominate if so indicated members of an eventual District Health Council for this area.

A representative of the Ontario Fire Marshall's office has been called in to investigate three fires which have occurred in downtown Napanee in the past month.

Commenting on the most recent fire, which destroyed a lumber shed in the rear yard of Kimmerly Lumber, Saturday morning, Fire Chief Pat Patton said, "It did not start by itself".

The other two fires were one near the Fire Hall on market square, and another which gutted the interior of a residential estate and insurance on James Street.

Bell to prune gossip "grapevine"

Bell Canada is planning to take a few whacks at cutting down some of the branches of the neighbourhood gossip grapevine in Prince Edward County.

By the end of this year, 300 Bell

Canada customers on the 399 exchange of Wellington will have less people on their party lines.

But there will still be a maximum of four, which means there will still be plenty of frustrations...trying to call out and trying to get your own calls through.

With a party line, there's no such thing as a confidential conversation...not when you can hear the heavy breathing, or the clock ticking in someone else's kitchen.

And, when the party line is your business phone, you're likely to lose a lot of business.

Bell has been ORDERED to make the changes and cut down on party lines. It's part of a half-billion-dollar, five-year program ordered by the Canadian Radio and Television Commission (CRTC) when telephone rate increases were approved.

Wellington is the only Prince Edward County exchange being converted this year.

Beginning September 6, 1977 all Ontario speed and distance signs will go metric.

This is how to learn the system.

Speed signs

Distance sign (changeover already in effect)

It's a very easy system, and most countries around the world already use it. Ontario and other provinces are adopting it under a Canada-wide plan approved by Metric Commission Canada.

Speed limits are measured in kilometres per hour (km/h). Distances are measured in kilometres (km) and metres (m).

One metre is approximately the length of a long stride. One kilometre is 1000 metres or 5/8 mile (0.625). (One mile = 1.6 km)

An easy way to familiarize yourself with kilometres is to consider the time factors involved—for example, 80 km (50 miles) would take about 1 hour to drive at a speed of 80 km/h (50 mph).

you'll get the picture quickly.

To learn the system faster, "think metric"—don't convert back to the old Imperial unit of miles. And to measure your gas consumption in kilometres per gallon, divide the number of kilometres travelled by the number of gallons used.

Get a free copy of the informative booklet "Ontario Roads Go Metric" from any Ministry of Transportation and Communications office or LCBO outlet in Ontario.

An audience of one. Amber, the golden-eyed cat lends an appreciative ear while Alec Lunn practices on his flute.

Grant sought for music

Flutist Alec Lunn of Picton is very enthusiastic about the possibility of getting a program going which would give musicians a place to practice regularly, to teach and to perform classical and chamber music.

"One of the real joys of playing music is working in concert with other musicians," he says.

"A centre where we could get together for regular practices would be a treat and give a focus not only to practiced musicians but also to the beginning players who might otherwise be too shy to approach an established group."

"And we think our music could give enjoyment to a lot of listeners too. Bach, Beethoven and Chopin can still draw a crowd. Recently, the United Church in Bloomfield was well filled on two occasions by appreciative people who came to hear the works of the old masters on piano and flute."

"We wouldn't wait for the audiences to come to us either. Planned projects could include performances in other centres in the area, such as senior citizen homes, and visits to the schools to introduce the children to the various instruments, through demonstrations, talks and recordings."

"We've learned, from the Board of Education, that at present there is only an after-school program available for high school students and that many of the elementary schools can provide only limited musical activities. Some of the children have never actually come in contact with a flute, a violin or a cello."

Alec and his wife, Robin, are doing more than just dreaming about the project. They have approached the Federal Government for assistance to set up the centre under the Canada Works Program.

In essence, the aim of this Federal program is to create jobs and utilize skills in providing useful services or facilities to the community.

The musical centre proposed by the Lunn's would create jobs... for a centre manager and for otherwise unemployed musicians to teach and direct the groups.

No program ready - Ellis

While plans to announce a federal government policy on housing insulation have been made, no program is ready, Jack Ellis, Hastings MP reports.

"Unfortunately, this caused some frustrations for both individuals who are interested in insulating their homes and dealers in the business. Anticipation of such a project is slowing the market to a trickle until the announcement," Mr. Ellis said.

"We sometimes have a lot of explaining to do," says Ross Toner, manager of the Lennox and Addington Housing Authority in Napanee. "Some older people may not catch on to new legislation as quickly as others. It's difficult at times."

Napanee has 177 seniors in four buildings and two rent supplements in Amherstview.

Deseronto has not yet run into the annual rent review. The Senior Citizen apartments were only opened recently.

Mr. Toner cited one type of case where rent had been reduced during the lease year. A woman tenant had been getting alimony. Her husband died and her income was drastically cut.

"A question were're sometimes asked is why there are some younger people in the buildings," Mr. Toner said. "General rules are that tenants must be 60 years old but each housing authority has some latitude. Someone under 60 might be allowed in because he is on a disability pension. Or a tenant over 60 might die and his wife, who is under 60, stays on."

Tenants have plenty of advance warning about rent increases. About 120 days before the end of the annual lease, forms are sent to tenants on which they list income. Rents are adjusted to income and tenants get 90 days notice of changes.

The housing authorities operate under the Ministry of Housing and the Landlord Tenant Act. They administer and maintain all rent-gear-to-income housing.

The accommodations have proved popular. Picton now has a waiting list.

"The amount of the rent is nothing to kick about," according to Mr. and Mrs. P. Robinson, in the Picton building. "The increase in rent is a percentage of the amount that our pension has gone up."

FOR THE BIRDS?

Must be the dry weather and the overabundance of insects in the early summer, but, for some reason, there seem to be a lot more birds around than there used to be...not only in numbers but in varieties.

Margaret Jackson, Main Street, Deseronto, has listed 20 different birds she's spotted. Here's her list: blue jay, blackbird, starling, sparrow, robin, barn swallow, king bird, song sparrow, cow bird, purple martins, humming bird, crow, kilder, meadow lark, oriole, red wing blackbird, ruby crown kinglet, and woodpecker.
Herons have been reported near Northport and hawks are fairly plentiful too.

KIDS' CARNIVAL

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is about $18 richer because of the efforts of a group of Deseronto youngsters who held a Carnival in aid of the Association last week.

Despite the unco-operative weather on the big day, Cindy Sparks reports that they did get some customers and make a profit.

CHERRY VALLEY ROYALISTS

The Queen is still a pretty popular person in this United Empire Loyalist area if the crowds helping to celebrate her Silver Jubilee festivities in Cherry Valley on Sunday are any indication.

More than 1,000 people were on hand for the celebration which started with a parade led by CJOH-TV's Max Keeping and Energy Minister James Taylor in a white convertible, followed by Warden Allan Pettingill, Picton Mayor Donald King, Arabian horsemen, a pipe band, majorettes and a variety of other amusing floats.

Among the day's event were a bingo, dog show, pony cart rides, brick throwing, rolling pin throwing, nail driving, log sawing and a tug of war.

Antique cars from the Prince Edward Auto Club were among the exhibits.

Phil Dadds was organizer for the festivities.

TWO CENTS FOR ONE?

The Royal Canadian Mint is going to issue a new, smaller penny, starting next January. The new coin will be about the same size as a dime.

The reason? Every time the mint makes a one-cent coin now, it costs two cents to do it.

Well, that's a switch in these days of inflation...money that's actually worth more than you thought it was.

MORE MANURIAL MOANS

Cow manure is in the news again. The Pollution from Land Use Activities Reference Group, an 18-member body backed by the International Joint Commission, and armed with a $10 million budget, is studying diverse land use factors that may be affecting water quality in the Great Lakes.

And what do you think they've come up with?

At a recent meeting in Kingston, this group reported: "Heavy industry and urban growth aren't the only things affecting water pollution. Among other things, farm lands and run-off from feed lots also contribute."

And, with all that money and clout

PIONEER FESTIVAL

Napanee town councillors, in 1907 costume, rode one of the floats in the parade from Springside Park to the museum, as part of the opening-day program for the first annual County Festival of the Pioneers, last Thursday.

At the museum, the councillors took part in reading the minutes of the meeting 70 years ago.

Warden Ernest Marshall, also in 1907 costume, officially opened the festival, arranged to celebrate the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Lennox and Addington County Historical Society and the 10th anniversary of the opening of the Allan Macpherson House.

During the four-day festival, exhibits were featured both at the museum and Macpherson House.

WATCH OUT FOR EXPLOSION!

An old T-33 jet trainer is being exploded at Mountain View air station on Highway 14...and it's all part of a plot which includes troops trying to overthrow a government. But don't worry, we're not in the middle of a rebellion here. A film crew, working on a war movie "Coup d'Etat" is going to film the explosion. Peter O'Toole is one of the stars in the picture.

The film company purchased the stripped jet from the storage unit at Mountain View. Surplus aircraft are stored there either for reconstruction or as parts for other planes.

Before setting off the explosion the fuselage of the jet was cut so it would blow apart in a realistic manner.

Kamal Rostom

When a person is ignorant, he must not be a snob. He has to learn and not show off, pretending to be more learned than the person who taught him. Time and again in my life, I have been confronted by some dour persons whom I had taught something they were ignorant of, and afterwards they didn't only deny me the homage they ought to pay me, but they also gave me the cold shoulder and their ingratitude.

It might well be said that it behoves the learned to teach the ignorant, without expecting anything from them. That is true. But on the other hand, the ignorant should not expect to change places so that the erudite would be the ignorant and the ignorant the erudite.

I say that, because one of my intimate friends came to me the other day with an over wrought look on his face. He said to me that he would never again teach anyone, what he knew in his field of specialization, because he was unjustly treated by the one he had honestly taught. "He criticized me, even stultified my work," he replied.

I did my best to calm him down, then I told him the old Egyptian saw: "Those who don't have a thing, can't give it," in other words, the ignorant aren't entitled to teach, they are entitled to be constantly taught.

I agreed with him that he should not teach that person again, and leave him immersed in his ignorance, but I took exception with him as regards other persons. Not everyone is a sham. There are still noble souls in the world. Try to share your knowledge with those who need it. If you find some of them ungrateful, you can't be held accountable for their ingratitude. Drop them from your list of friends and keep to the company of those who would repeat the proverb: He who teaches me one word will be my master.

Gold Cup races coming up

On Labour Day weekend, the Prince Edward Gold Cup races on the Hayward Long Reach will feature the major divisions in motorboat racing: stock inboard, inboard hydroplane and outboard tunnel hulls.

The races are sponsored by the Prince Edward Racing Club and are internationally sanctioned by the Canadian, American and Mexican Federations and by the Union Internationale Motonautique. They attract star racers and top boats from across North America.

The events include the North American Championship 5 litre race for the Labatt's award and the Labatt's Grand Prix for the coveted Prince Edward Gold Cup, a two-day event.

The Long Reach, named the Hayward Long Reach some years ago in honour of the late Bob Hayward, champion racing driver of the Harnsworth Trophy attracts thousands of visitors to Prince Edward County every year. The unusual water-surrounded county provides an ideal location for the races.

Races will be held on September 4 and 5.

WAYSIDE EVANGEL

FREEDOM FROM SIN'S GUILT

Need I be bound? No, no. For Jesus died upon the cross to set the captive soul free. He opened the door wide for the whosoever. And that whosoever means you, so you need not be bound by sin and habit.

We are building every day for Eternity. Therefore we must watch how we build. For it is in Gal. 6:7,8 we are told that so ever a man soweth, that shall he reap.

Sow the spirit and reap joys untold.

DEATHS

SEXSMITH - Ross Lovell Sexsmith of 313 Dundas Street, Deseronto, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital on August 9, 1977 at the age of 81.

IN MEMORIAM

GORDANIER - In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Lewis Gordanian, who passed away August 26, 1976.

God saw that you were getting tired,
He did what He thought was best,
He put His arms around you,
And whispered "Come and rest."
The golden gates that opened,
One year ago today,

Sadly missed by son Ed, daughter-in-law Jackie, grandchildren Jim and wife Gail, Philip, Paul and great granddaughter, Beverly.

Happenings

by Mrs. Kay Hood

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. J. Boston were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Neal of West Palm Beach, Florida, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Neal of Belleville.

Mrs. Gladys Miller of Utica, N.Y. is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Don MacMillan and Mr. MacMillan. Other visitors for the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Otter of Marcy, N.Y.

Mrs. Kay Hood and her father, Albert Reed, have returned home after attending the wedding of her nephew, Peter Barbier to Miss Ursula Striemi, in Windsor. Peter and Ursula will be returning to Northern Ontario where they both have teaching positions at Sachigo Lake Indian village.

The Presbyterian Sunday School will be starting again on September 11 at 10:45 a.m. All children are welcome.

Looking at one of the books from the Canadiana section in the Deseronto library is new librarian, Gloria Greenfield.

Deseronto's new librarian

Deseronto has a new librarian... Gloria Greenfield from Picton.

Gloria comes to the position with high qualifications.

She has a Bachelor of Arts degree from Trent University, and a Bachelor of Education degree, a library certificate and an elementary school teaching certificate from Queen's University.

While attending Queen's, she completed a volunteer project in the library at the School for the Deaf in Belleville.

She also taught in a secondary school, grade 10 students at the Six Nations' school in Hogarville.

With such an impressive scholastic record, you might expect Gloria to be a little awesome...but she isn't.

She's been a real fan of murder mystery stories, she has a number of handicraft hobbies and, recently, she helped make doors for her garage, swinging up, instead of out... "to make it easier in the winter".

She is not officially Deseronto librarian until September 7. Meanwhile, she is spending a lot of time at the library "learning the ropes", with the help of Heather Granatstein, present librarian, who is leaving next month.

Deseronto library notes

Don't miss the free puppet show at the library, being performed by the "Deckhands" puppetry group on Thursday, August 25 at 11:00 a.m. Everyone is welcome.

A great number of our borrowers were requesting books on antiques... we have the books; where are the borrowers?

Our "Peanuts" books are practically run out... you'd better come in and see what you can still borrow!

As far as high prices are concerned, Mr. Smith feels this may stem from a lack of understanding on both sides.

"Americans notice quite a difference in the price of gas but some don't realize they're getting as much gas for the money."

He also says that some of his clients complain that not all local merchants give them the going rate of exchange on their money and that this is "hitting a sour note". Many Canadians could, of course, complain of the same thing happening across the border.

Two American families that the Scanner interviewed had different opinions on the subject of high prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Karney from New Jersey were interviewed at the Tourist Information Bureau in Picton. They were just passing through Prince Edward County and it was their first visit, so their comments were of a more general nature. They both agreed that they found the cost of food and accommodation "somewhat expensive."

"We pay $40.00 for a meal here that would cost $25.00 at home," explained Mrs. Karney. They were disappointed with the scenery but were somewhat unfair in comparing it to what they had seen in Nova Scotia last summer.

Jim Chapman on the other hand, is from Rochester and rents, for three weeks every summer, a cottage at Crawford's cottages on West Lake. He has been vacationing in this country for the past 19 years and enjoys playing golf.

"As far as I'm concerned, there's no noticeable difference in prices and I think it's actually cheaper to rent a cottage here."

The lakes in the part of New York state he inhabits are too crowded, he says and he enjoys coming here for the peace and quiet.

Hugh and Bernice Frizzell, who own Lake-on-the-Mountain Motel, have been serving tourists in various ways since 1946. The business began as 6 log cabins with a restaurant and dining room. Later a large brick house was added and became the lodge. The motel was built 16 years ago and a store was operated across the road until last year.

At one point the lodge attracted a regular clientele that was almost entirely American. The visitors came from all over the states and a good time was had by all. But then the lodge and dining room became too expensive and time consuming to operate and were shut down.

Almost overnight the clientele switched from American to Canadian, and Canadians have never quite matched the affluent visitors from south of the border when it comes to liberally distributing money.

Mrs. Frizzell blames the declining American trade on the excessive taxing and regulating of the industry by the government.

"Tourism is the second largest industry in Ontario, but we do little to make it attractive."

The Frizzells found it difficult to get summer people to work after the government set a minimum wage and minimum hours. They also find it ironic that the government spends so much to promote tourism when the sales tax on food and accommodation remains.

Sales tax may be one of the reasons that more Quebecers are vacationing in Ontario, however, since they pay 8% extra on everything.

Mrs. Frizzell also feels that Canadian people may not be as friendly or bother to put themselves out as much as the Americans do for their tourists.

"The biggest percentage of people passing through QITA's information booth in Picton this summer are from Montreal and Toronto. At least, they're the ones who appear most often in the guest book."

Americans registered in the book are mainly from Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Fishermen warned

The Ontario government has released an information package on the contamination of fish in Ontario waters.

Members of the public are urged to check their catch, to identify species, to measure length of fish, and to check charts for the respective lake or waterway to make sure of the amount of such fish safe for human consumption over a specific period.

Children under 15 and women of child-bearing age should eat only those fish designated as totally safe, and it should be remembered that a meal is considered to be equivalent to 230 grams or 8 ounces.

Fishermen are going to be loaded down with a lot more than lines, hooks, and perhaps a case of beer, from now on in. They'll be toting charts and scales too, if they want to play it safe.

That's just part of a long news report from Hugh O'Neill, MPP Quinte.

If a nyone still has an appetite for fish, after reading that much of the Government report, you can get lots more information about all sorts of fish pollutants from the Ministry of the Environment in Toronto.

TOMATO MINCÉMÉAT

Chop finely and drain 3 quarts of green tomatoes. Cover with cold water, let come to a boil and simmer for 1/2 hour.

Drain and add:
2 lbs. brown sugar
1 lb. raisins
1/2 cup butter
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Stir all together and cook for 2 hours. Chop and add 2 quarts of apples and another 2 cups brown sugar. Cook for 1/2 hour. Seal in sterilized jars until ready to make pie.

BEETS WITH PINEAPPLE

2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup pineapple tidbits
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 lb. can (2 cups) sliced beets, drained.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Stir in pineapple with syrup. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and bubbles. Add butter, lemon juice and beets. Cook over medium heat about 5 minutes or until hot. Serves 5.

CRANBERRY SAUCED BEETS

Combine:
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon sugar
Dash of salt.

Put in saucepan and gradually stir in 1 cup of cranberry juice cocktail. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture thickens and bubbles. Add two 1 lb. cans of sliced beets, or 4 cups of fresh beets, drained, and 1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel. Simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

PICKLED EGGS

This recipe has been handed down for generations and dates back to the early days on the prairies.

1 dozen eggs hard cooked
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon celery seed

3 cups white vinegar
1 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt.

Shell eggs. Place spices in a cheese cloth bag. Mix vinegar, water and salt in a saucepan, add spices and boil 10 minutes.

Remove spices, cool solution. Pack eggs into clean, large-mouthed canning jars. Completely cover with the cooled vinegar solution. Seal and store in refrigerator. Let stand at least 2 days before using.

FREEZING TOMATOES

Here is a simple way to enjoy tomatoes all winter in stews, soups, meats, etc.

Drop each tomatoe gently into boiling water, then into cold water. This loosens the skins which should now slip off easily. Pack the skinned tomatoes in plastic bags and freeze.

FRUIT CHILI

2 - 6 quart baskets of tomatoes
2 lbs. brown sugar
4 tsp. chili powder
Salt to taste
4 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. garlic salt
4 tsp. all spice
2 lb. white sugar
2 large green peppers
2 sweet peppers
2 hot red peppers
4 tablespoons celery seed
1 whole celery all cut small
7 onions all cut small
7 peaches - fresh or canned
7 apples - fresh, cut small
1/2 qt. vinegar
7 pears - fresh or canned, cut small

Put all together at the same time and cook. Skim off foam and stir every 20 minutes. Let cook at least 2 - 3 hours until it starts to thicken, then turn heat off. Have clean scolded jars ready to fill. Stir after each jar is filled.

Electrifying wit - from your Hydro

Here's a reassuring 21 press release sent out by Ontario Hydro.

Submissions to the Royal Commission on Electric Power Planning are in technical language, usually abbreviated - kWh (kilo-watt hours) kv (kilovolts) - and words like "gauss" (unit of magnetic induction).

Laymen don't understand the terms and Ontario Hydro, sensitive to the public it serves, knows this too.

One Hydro submission, titled Transmission and Load Use, explained that, really, no ill effects will result from high-voltage transmission lines crossing a farmer's property. In this paper Hydro said:

"Under a 500-kv line with minimum clearance of 40 feet of the center of the sag between towers, the electro-magnetic field is about .5 gauss and the electrostatic potential is about five kv per metre."

In the next breath, in down-to-earth terms, Hydro put it simply "To put this in perspective, electromagnetic fields for some common household appliances might be noted.

"A soldering iron or common hair-dryer has a field of 10 to 25 gauss; a can opener, fluorescent desk lamp, kitchen range and electric shaver have fields of five to 10 gauss; and a colour television set, food blender, electric drill or portable heater have fields of one to five gauss, all much higher and subjecting most people to much greater exposures than that of a transmission line.

Put simply: That overhead line won't hurt a bit.

This flea which I have in mine (R)ear

The heading over the picture, except for the (R) is a quote from Rabalais, writing back in the early 1500's. And here's one from some 400 years B.C., by Aristophanes, "Lodgings free from bugs and fleas, if possible."

Fleas have been plaguing us for centuries and, if you've got a dog or cat running your household, you'll know that we're into the worst of the flea season again.

If you've tried to rid your house of the little pests by leaving home for a few weeks and letting them die off, you know it doesn't work. They lay eggs and the larvae eat up your dust and dirt. Then they change into pupae which lurk inside a chrysalis... waiting. The first vibration of your foot-steps... or your dog's or cat's... and out they pop, ready for action.

Arsonist on the loose Do YOU have two fire exits?

If you live in a second or third-storey apartment, particularly in an old building, better check to see how many fire exits you have.

If one exit is blocked by fire, you need an alternative way out.

At least two of the four fires occurring in downtown Napanee over the past few weeks have been set, according to David Shorey, from the Ontario Fire Marshall's office in Brackville.

Mr. Shorey would not comment on which of the two fires he was referring to, or on how they had been set.

Napanee Fire Chief, F.W. Patton has expressed his concern about people living in apartments above businesses in the downtown section of Napanee.

When questioned about the exits from some of these second-floor apartments, he said that, technically speaking, they do have two exits.

How many exits should they have? Ask any fireman and he'll tell you that you should always have an alternative route. Legally it's a little more complicated.

Under the National Building Code of Canada, 1970, adopted by many municipalities including Napanee and Deseronto, requirements concerning exits take up 12 pages of small type. Each section has its own "ifs" and "buts." But, in essence, no matter what the occupancy of the building is... "exit facilities complying with this section shall be provided to a public thoroughfare or to an approved open space with access to a public thoroughfare from every floor area or roof which is intended for occupancy"... and, with some exceptions "every floor area and other space as regulated... shall be served by not fewer than two exits."

Exits are defined as being one of the following, "slide escape, escalator, exterior doorway, exterior passageway, exterior ramp, exterior stairway, fire escape, horizontal exit, interior passageway, interior ramp, or interior stairway."

The National Building Code, and its successor the Ontario Building Code apply to all new construction and to all substantial alterations or repairs to existing buildings.

Municipal building by-laws in force on the effective date of the Building Code Act remain in force but apply only to existing buildings.

"When we were making extensive renovations to the Napanee Town Hall in 1974, we had to put in a back stair from the second floor. Previously a spiral staircase went up at the front into an open council chamber," said Jack McNamee, Napanee town official.

It would appear that, unless an old building is being extensively renovated two exits might not be required by law.

"We always point out to people, when we're making calls, that they should have an alternative way out," said L. Tripp, Picton's Fire Chief.

But some people had not thought about this until surveyed by the Scanner.

"I don't like the set-up," said one third-floor tenant of an older building in Picton. "There are some stairs to the ceiling, a trap door lift and a walk across the roof."

Another said that, as a result of her talk with the Scanner, she is going to look into it. "There's a door from my kitchen into an interior hallway. The other door from the living room into the same hallway doesn't work. I think I'll get it fixed."

Will job funds go down drain?

On the one hand, people out of work. On the other, Federal funds for work projects not used.

That appears to be the story of the Manpower Works Program in this area.

A recent new report from Picton, headed up "No One Wants Grants", stated that a chance for service clubs or other groups in the area to take advantage of Federal grants available under the Canada Works Program went down the drain.

And, a press release from Jack Ellis, MP, Hastings, received last week, reports that $61,556 was not used last year. But it is being added to the $464,000 allocated by the Canada Works Program to relieve unemployment in Hastings Riding during 1977-78.

Allocations for the other centres in this area are not yet available from the Job Creation Branch in Kingston.

Mr. Ellis also reports that a new formula for calculating grant eligibility includes a basic allocation of $100,000 plus an allowance for the labour surplus in the population.

A July press release from Clarke T. Rollins, MPP, Hastings-Peterborough, outlined the program as designed to utilize the expertise of local organizations in the development and management of projects that will create new short-term employment opportunities.

"The direct creation of jobs is one option that the Federal Government has developed to utilize the skills of Canada's unemployed in providing useful services or facilities to their communities. The jobs created should also be designed to provide project participants with work experience that will assist them to secure other employment after their participation in the project," Mr. Rollins pointed out.

Deadline for applications for the grants has just past... August 26. Applications are not sent to local offices so there is no figure available yet for the number submitted from this area.

Beef on the hoof

We're getting a lot of press releases from the Frontenac Committee for the 1977 International Plowing Match.

The most recent is about special events... mayors, wardens and other dignitaries will be challenging each other on the plows... horseshoers will be pitching for points... oxen, the largest form of animal model of power, and well-groomed harness teams will be competing.

AND, competitors in one special event will be, to quote the release, "paraded, applauded and praised". No, it's not the horses or the oxen in this instance... it's girls.

"The real highlight and the glamour of the special events will be the selection of the Queen of the Furrow," the release continues.

Try a letter

Got a beef to air? Try a letter to the editor. Maybe some reader will come up with an answer. A few weeks ago, we ran a letter from a senior citizen, wondering how she would get around the county without a driver's licence. One of our readers, Hon. James Taylor, local MP, saw the letter and provided our reader with an action line. See page 3.

Editorial

Last year, an Environmental Assessment Act came into effect in Ontario. The Act called for environmental studies of all major Government projects and the Government said it would eventually be extended to cover private developments.

Last October, Environment Minister George Kerr listed exemptions for "those projects too far along in planning and design stages for the Act to apply or for those projects that don't have too much environmental impact".

Now, the Government has exempted the Darlington Nuclear Generating Station... Hydro's third nuclear power station... from public scrutiny of its environmental impact. The reason given... a public inquiry would delay completion of the project beyond 1985, when a critical period of electricity shortage is expected to begin.

Whether there will be an energy shortfall after 1985 or not, such a massive project of such controversial nature makes it imperative that the people of Ontario have the full protection and consideration guaranteed them by the Act.

The environmental studies could have been started a year or more ago. Instead, the Government has taken no action while Ontario Hydro conducted its own in-house studies which have, apparently, been accepted as adequate.

Such a decision creates grounds for public suspicion that Hydro does not want the environmental consequences of the Darlington project to be fully and publicly explored.

And the local news this week that Hydro commissioned consultants to ask the people around the Lennox Hydro Station how they would feel about expansion at that plant... without pointing out the fact that there was a 50% chance the expansion would be nuclear... is not too reassuring.

In reply to a query from Councillor Mary Kaiser of Adolphustown Township a representative of Des Connor Consulting Service indicated that a new plant would have to be built in Eastern Ontario and the plant might be nuclear.

Four different locations were under consideration and the area which would give the least public opposition might be used for the new plant.

Previously, the consultant had visited a number of municipal councillors in Napanee, Richmond and Ernestown Township, as part of a study he is reported to be conducting in Lennox and Addington for Ontario Hydro to determine if there would be a great deal of public opposition to the doubling of the Lennox Generating Station near Bath... without mentioning that it might be a nuclear plant.

It is our belief that there is a considerable hazard to life from both the wastes emitted from a nuclear plant and from the wastes that would have to be stored. Some of these materials can last for thousands of years.

If the Darlington decision is not reversed, and a full public scrutiny of its environmental impact is bypassed, we might find ourselves in the same position with an extension of the Lennox Plant at some future date.

This year's Gold Cup races on the Long Reach, will be the subject of a colour movie. Dave Mercer of Royal Embassy Studios, Picton, has been given permission to film the races and the activity in the pits. Mr. Mercer studied movie making at Conestoga College in Kitchener, Ontario.

THE ANNUAL MUNICIPAL ENUMERATION STARTS NEXT WEEK

The annual municipal enumeration will begin on Tuesday, September 6, 1977. During this month, an enumerator, carrying a proper identification card, will call at your residence for a few minutes to check basic information required in determining:

- the allocation of education property taxes between the public and separate school systems;
- the distribution of provincial grants to local governments to help reduce local tax bills;
- the preparation of juror's lists; and
- population information needed for other municipal programs.

The enumerator must record such information as the name, age, property status (e.g. owner or tenant), school support and residency of all members of the household.

When the enumerator visits, please check that the information on the Enumeration Notice is correct, if it is not, revise it and verify the changes.

If you are not at home, a Notice will be left for you. If changes are necessary, please make them and mail the Enumeration Notice, as soon as possible, in the self addressed, postage prepaid envelope accompanying the Notice. For any additional information please contact the local assessment office.

Letters

EDITOR'S NOTE:

A few weeks ago, the Quinte Scanner published a letter to the editor from a senior citizen worried about transportation from a rural retirement property to town when health or age made driving impossible.

We have received the following reassuring letter from the Hon. James Taylor, Prince Edward-Lennox MPP and the Minister of Energy for Ontario.

Dear Mrs. Wares:

The Quinte Scanner of August 10 carried a letter from one of our senior citizens that pinpoints a serious problem for our older citizens in the rural parts of this province. We don't have public transit in the smaller urban centres let alone the rural areas. The family car and the farm truck have become an indispensable part of our life. But there comes a time when physical or financial limitations deprive the senior citizen of the motor vehicle and/or his driver's license.

Older people, particularly in areas such as rural Prince Edward-Lennox, must have help in securing essential transportation. This was, indeed, a major consideration when as Minister of Community and Social Services I prompted the Four Counties demonstration program. This program is testing in Prince Edward-Lennox, Hastings and Northumberland Counties the tangible ways in which provincial and municipal, public and private agencies, can provide such essential help to senior citizens as transportation.

I do not believe that the Dial-A-Bus will ever prove practical or economically feasible even in the concentrated metropolitan areas where services are relatively close to senior citizens. But particularly in the rural areas where no public transportation systems exist, we simply must face the reality that as people grow older they must rely on family, friends and volunteer organizations as well as on government if we are going to keep our senior citizens within the community and preferably within their own homes.

I know that the Ministry of Community and Social Services is working on specific proposals with regard to such needed senior citizen services within these counties. Accordingly, I am passing along this correspondence -- the letter in the Scanner and this letter of reply -- to my successor in that portfolio, the Honourable Keith Norton. I am sure that Gerry Dudo, the Ministry of Community and Social Services District Co-ordinator at Belleville, can give you some specific information on progress towards senior citizens' transportation help in this area.

Sincerely,
James Taylor,
MPP Prince Edward-Lennox,
Minister of Energy.

Seniors arrange transport

Senior citizens, in Prince Edward County, faced with the problem of transportation when age or health forces them to give up their drivers' licenses, are doing something about it, according to Kathy Cook, special projects officer with the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services. Three senior citizens' clubs are presently planning some form of transportation service to get members to drop-in centres for a day of sociability. And the services may be expanded in future to include necessary trips ... to doctors, dentists, etc. ... at a later date.

A Senior Citizens drop-in club was set up in Picton this summer with the help of the Kinsmen Club. Now, services have been extended. Volunteer drivers will be out picking up seniors one day a week to bring them to the center.

The Bloomfield Senior Citizens' Club is opening a drop-in centre in October in the Town Hall. They will be using a bus service in a five-mile radius. The main purpose of the service is to bring people in to the centre, but it may be used, later, for trips to Picton. The service will be subsidized, and there will only be a small fee for its use.

In Wellington, the Senior Citizens' Club is setting up a skill bank. Volunteers will help by providing drives, advice on filling out such forms as income tax, and any other services they can provide. Senior volunteers will be paid up to $50 a month by the Ministry of Community and Social Services. There is one senior volunteer in Wellington now.

In Sophiasburgh, there is a new Senior Citizens' Club which is just getting started.

Unhappy hooker

Here's a sad story from the Toronto papers. Police action has lowered the income of prostitutes. One hooker said her income had been reduced from $1,000 a week to $500.

And, if her income continues to decline, she'd better learn another kind of hooking...rugs.

RE: ONTARIO HOME RENEWAL PROGRAM

The above program, in which the Town of Deseronto is now officially enrolled, is designed to assist owner occupants to repair their homes to standards developed by the Town Council and accepted by the Ministry of Housing.

Loans up to $7,500 (part of which is forgivable depending on the applicant's "adjusted family income") may be obtained. Interest on the loan is also dependent on "adjusted family income" with the maximum rate being 8 percent.

To be eligible for assistance under this program the following two criteria must be met:

1. the homeowner's "adjusted family income" must not exceed $12,500 and
2. the applicant must be the owner of the dwelling unit and this unit must be his principal residence.

If any homeowner is interested in the program and feels he could be eligible please contact the undersigned for further details.

STRIKING CLERKS

Low wages and lack of respect from board officials were among reasons given by striking clerical staff of the Lennox and Addington County Board of Education.

Ed Scott, area representative for the Canadian Union of Public Employees said that the employees had been attempting to negotiate with no success for at

JUBILEE MEDAL

Napanee's Jack Dale, who has been involved in community activity for many years, has been nominated to receive the Queen's Jubilee Medal from Ontario for exemplary service to the Town of Napanee.

Among his activities are fund raising to complete the King Street Park, spearheading the drive for additions to the Community Arena and sponsorship of minor sports teams.

AWARD TO VOLUNTEERS

And other acknowledgment of the work done by volunteers is the top spot given to the Kinsmen Club of Picton for service to the community.

"It was the senior citizen drop in centre that did it," said past president Duane Russell who accepted the award at a Toronto convention. Club members devoted more than 3,500 man hours to the project.

NEW COUNTY LIBRARY

Ameliasburgh is going to have a library, with Belleville's help.

Books will be provided primarily by the Ontario Regional Library Board and the Belleville Libraries.

Prince Edward County has libraries in Picton, Wellington, Bloomfield and Milford, but this will be the first in the north end of the county.

SWEARING IS OUT

Prince Edward County Councillors have decided that profanity is out. They've adopted a new and stricter set of rules governing parliamentary procedure during debates, and councillors are to abide by them "no matter what the provocation".

Before the ink was dry on the motion, adopting the procedures by-law, several councillors had already broken the rules.

It's hard to teach an old dog new tricks.

HELPED SUMMER WORKERS

Awards, sponsored jointly by the Department of Manpower and Immigration and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, go to five Prince Edward employers in appreciation of their support of the Canada Manpower Centre's summer student employment program.

They are PECI guidance counsellor Larry Richardson, Lake Ontario Cement Ltd., Prince Edward County Board of Education, Prince Edward Heights complex and Windy Acres Farms Ltd.

SPEEDING IT UP

Here's good news for real speeders. Now, you get six demerit points for exceeding the speed limit by 30 miles per hour or more.

Under the metric system, it will be 50 kilometres per hour...which works out to 31.1 miles per hour, according to a press release from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications. But the more slowly you speed, the less break you get.

Exceeding the speed limit by 20-29 miles and hour gets four demerit points now. Under metric, you get the four points for 18.6 to 31.1 miles per hour over the limit, and three points for 9.3 to 18.6, instead of 11-19.

Speeders don't need this kind of break. A permanent "broke" would be more fitting.

ODESSA FAIR

"One of the largest crowds in recent years" was the way Bruce Todd Agricultural Society President, described attendance at the 142nd annual Odessa Fair, held Friday and Saturday.

A talent show, horse-drawing contest, and a four-team bad race were among the featured events.

Although there were about 150 horses available for judging and over 500 entries in the stock and pet show, the traditional livestock judging was disappointing, fair board judges said. Main complaint was that there was not enough prize money offered and there is to be a review of the situation before next year's fair.

Among the displays was a new exhibit featuring the history of Odessa. Mrs. Joyce Johnston who presented the display said an encouraging number of people expressed interest in their local history.

The work of elementary school children and senior citizens divisions were also exhibited.

BOATING ACCIDENT

Mr. Jensen, Hans Hansen of RRB, Picton, were thrown from the 15-foot fibreglass motorboat when it banked right after a sharp left turn.

Not a cook's way to stuff a bird

One entire wall of John's workshop is covered with an assortment of stuffed ducks which can be found in Prince Edward County. "Skinning them is the gorey part," he says. After washing the skins in soap and water, they are dried in a clothes dryer. And, no you don't end up with nothing but a dryer full of feathers.

Although John's been stuffing animals for seven years, "It's just in the last few years that I've been getting good at it," he says. Above is the lynx sent to him from Sault Ste. Marie to be stuffed. This summer, John is working for professional taxidermist Ron Reynolds of Bath. The trouble with being a taxidermist full time is "drumming up enough business year round," according to John.

Some of the many animals, including a wolf, stuffed by John (above), 28, of Demorestville, since he first started his own taxidermy, at the age of 10, are shown above. Styrofoam form and computer frame on which the stuffed animal skins are mounted. Polyfil and ground cork provide additional stuffing for other parts of the body, such as the legs on large animals. Glass eyes, painted an appropriate colour by John replace the real eyes.

Ben Brant, new chief of the Mohawk Fire Department, and retiring chief Garnet Maracle, talk over fire protection problems.

New fire chief for Reserve

His first week on the job was a busy one for Ben Brant, new chief of the Mohawk Fire Department... six calls in seven days.

"The department gets about 100 calls a year," he said. "But that was the hot, dry season, early in the summer."

All six calls were to grass fires. And the Department is on the job, ready for action, as soon as a call comes in.

"We can be anywhere on the reserve in ten minutes," said former fire chief Garnet Maracle. "Pagers are the answer. The firemen all have them and the farthest one is only five miles away."

"But we were lucky during the big storm last winter. We didn't get any calls."

Mr. Maracle was fire chief for four years and gave up the position recently because of his health. The new chief has been a member of the department for about two years.

He had high praise for what had been accomplished during Mr. Maracle's time in the job.

"We're as well equipped as any in the area," he said. "One of the councillors Charles Maracle is in the department... and he's a real help."

They have an 1,800-gallon tanker, two pumps holding 500 and 2,300 gallons, and an emergency equipment vehicle outfitted with stretcher, resuscitators and other items.

Both the present and the former chiefs were well pleased with their volunteer members.

"We were fortunate, when starting up, to get such good men," Mr. Maracle said. "We all took courses at Loyalist College to up-grade our knowledge. And there are weekly training meetings. Equipment is checked every week too."

"Last fall, the whole department took the St. John Ambulance course," Chief Brant said. "So we're all trained for first aid. This came in handy when I was in a park in Newfoundland. A fellow was gassed in a well and I was able to help."

The Mohawk Fire Department participates in the mutual aid system with Prince Edward and Hastings. One of the stipulations about joining mutual aid is that you must have your own pumper. Sometimes the Mohawk Department is called to provide additional water.

"Before we had our own department, we were looked after by Deseronto and Thorlaw," Chief Brant said. "And, without their help, we wouldn't have had one of our own."

A building adjacent to the fire station is used for meetings. The men have fixed it up into a recreation hall. They raised money, did the carpentry and other work themselves and the result is a warm and friendly meeting place.

In one corner is an eye-catching, tall, pot-bellied stove, used at one time in a schoolhouse and now polished to a shine.

On the front it says "Good Cheer", and reflects the feeling of the room.

Although staff complement in the department is a maximum of 21, there are only 16 permanent volunteers on the roster now. They are Ben Brant, chief; Bud Maracle and Leonard Maracle, captains; Laverne Maracle, lieutenant; Ken Maracle Scott Maracle, Dave Thomas, Jeff Maracle, Wayne Brant, Clayton Moon, Vernon Hill, Brian Maracle, Lester Brant, Art Brant and Duane Baptiste. Two new men are just joining the department.

Tenders are subject to a formal agreement being prepared and executed. The County reserves the right to reject any or all tenders and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

B.F. Pinder, P. Eng., Hastings County Engineer, County Administration Buildings, Belleville, Ontario.

WAYSIDE EVANGEL

They say our God is only in our minds, our emotions. They say our God is dead.

When He saved me 37 years ago, He revealed Himself to me. I felt and saw the load of guilt roll off my back, and I carry it no more.

He is alive today and still in the saving presence, who will but seek His face shall know of His saving grace.

THE DESERONTO REPORTER

News and events of specific interest to the residents of the Town of Deseronto

Wednesday, August 31, 1997

A lot of co-operation went into untangling this mess, the result of a two-vehicle collision on Highway 2, just west of Deseronto last week. Deseronto, Reserve and OPP officers were on hand, called in by two citizens with CB radios. Ambulance men, tow trucks and helpful passers-by all helped clear things up.

CB's call help to accident

It was the second accident this summer for one of the passengers involved in a collision which took place on Highway 2, just west of Deseronto, last week.

Sixteen-year-old Ken Shepherd of Verona is in a body cast. He was a passenger in a traffic accident early this summer. Last week, he and his mother were front-seat passengers in a 1975 Chevrolet, driven by his father, Clarence Shepherd, which collided with a 1984 Chevrolet driven by Edith Taylor of Belleville.

The Shepherd vehicle was proceeding east when the Taylor car, travelling west, rounded a curve and came across the centre line, hitting the other vehicle at the front corner.

Damage to both cars was extensive and both had to be towed away.

All three members of the Shepherd family were wearing seat belts and were not injured. "But this will upset our holiday plans," Mr. Shepherd said. "We've been waiting for our holidays until Ken was well enough to go with us."

Two passengers in the Taylor car, Dora Sparks and Tom Brant of Shannonville, were taken to the Belleville Hospital with major injuries. The driver was not injured nor was one other passenger.

The accident was reported by CB equipment from a truck driver, Ray Haynes, who contacted Dorothy Fraser on the Northport Road. She notified the Deseronto Police.

Rick Dennis of the Deseronto Police and Dave Lewis and Chief Tom Maracle of the Reserve Police were on the scene promptly.

Constable Larry Davis, Belleville Detachment of the OPP, investigated. Edith Taylor has been charged with careless driving.

Terror house helps fund

They looked scary but they were really a nice group of youngsters who manned a "House of Terror" last week, to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Visitors were taken through rooms lit with black light, at 169 Main Street in Deseronto, while recordings moaned and screamed.

In the cast were Kellie Jackson, 173 Main Street (the Hunchback); Danny Beyette, 179 Main Street (Dracula); Roger Law, 171 Main Street (Wolfman); Christine Jackson, 173 Main Street (Gypsy Lady); Bruce Law, 171 Main Street (Igor); and Philip Maracle, 169 Main Street (Egyptian Mummy).

Winner of the door prize, a chocolate bar, was Kirk Reid, Thomas Street, and Michael Carter, Thomas Street, got the jelly beans.

Deseronto library notes

Another batch of interesting novels have arrived at the library, including such titles as "Cousin to the Queen" by Judy Turner, "Cammemorations" by Hans Herlin and "The Dead Father" by Donald Barthelme.

Arrangements are taking place between the Library and the Regional Library System to begin a film programme for our Senior Citizens in the fall. Further details to follow in the near future.

As we approach the completion of our display on "The Town of Deseronto" we would like to thank all those people who have provided the much needed materials and information that we now have on hand. An announcement concerning the formal presentation of the display will be made later.

Happenings

DESERONTO
by Kay Hood

The residents of Parkview Apartments Edmon St. were entertained by a group of young musicians from Belleville, on Tuesday, August 23.

Called, "Music Experience '77" the group have played two engagements every day since June 20th. They play for Senior Citizens, Nursing Homes, Schools for the retarded and for deaf children. The deaf children are allowed to touch the instruments so that they can "hear" better.

Their programme consisted of music of the 30's, 40's, the big band sounds and also some rock. As music has a universal appeal, many of Deseronto's very young people came to listen and enjoy it too.

They were working under a government grant and hope to get together another year and continue to bring happiness to handicapped and elderly people.

GREEN TOMATO PIE

- 2 cups chopped green tomatoes
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 1 cup of chopped, seeded raisins
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon maple

Cover the tomatoes with boiling water and let boil quickly, drain at once. Add the other ingredients and mix thoroughly.

Transfer to pie plate lined with pie crust. Voisten the edges, put on a top crust, slash to allow steam to escape. Press the edges together with a fork and bake from 35 to 40 minutes in a hot oven, 375 degrees.

PEACHY PEACH JAM

- 2 cups chopped peaches (about 2 lbs.)
- 1 cup orange juice
- 3 cups sugar

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Wash fruit, dip in boiling water and peel. Discard pits. Chop peaches and measure into kettle. Add remaining ingredients, stirring thoroughly. Bring mixture to a boil and boil for 10 minutes.

Reduce heat and simmer until thickened. Remove from heat, ladle into hot jars and seal.

15-MINUTE CHILI SAUCE

- 6 quarts tomatoes, peeled and cut
- 6 cups chopped celery
- 4 cups chopped onions

Sprinkle with salt and let stand over night.

- Drain and add;
- 5 cups white sugar
- 2 cups vinegar
- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Boil for 15 minutes and seal in sterilized jar.

Lions' district conference

Three members of the Deseronto Lions Club took part in a weekend seminar for Lions District A 3 in Belleville. President Gerald Lawlor, secretary Carl Kellor and tail twister Rick Gaylord were among the 20 in attendance who exchanged ideas with fellow Lions on how they can best serve the people of their communities.

There are 37 clubs in the district, bordered on the west by Bowmanville, on the east by Kingston, and on the north by a line from Maynooth.

Also attending were new Lions members.

Guest speaker for the conference was Director Milton H. Tuttle of Des Plaines, Illinois, who represented the International Association of Lions Clubs. Lion Milton has been a Lion for 32 years and has had perfect attendance for that time. He is an attorney, president of his local community chest, a charter director of the local YMCA and a member of his suburban Bar Association. He is a former justice of the peace and township collector.

Recreation News

A well-attended minor hockey meeting was held at the Deseronto and District Community Centre to elect the 1977-78 executive committee and to formulate plans for the new season.

The new executive committee consists of Wayne Brant, chairman; Dennis Vick, secretary; Dennis Layfield, treasurer, along with committee members Jim Dobbin, Steve Heffernan, Bob Lightowler, Clarence Ziemann, Lester Brant, Wayne Cassidy, Vaughn Godfrey, Stirling Barker and Derek Gordonier.

Registration dates have been set for Saturday, September 10, and Saturday, September 17, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the arena. The regular Minor Hockey House League schedule will commence on October 15.

Discussion ranged from OMHA entries and fund-raising methods to a skate-a-thon scheduled for October 8, and a possible skate exchange at the arena this fall.

Another meeting will be held at the arena on Wednesday, September 7, at 7:30 p.m.

Summer Day Camp
Congratulations are in order to Maureen Cassidy, along with her helpers Karen Morris and Charlene Martin for a very well organized and interesting day camp program during July and August.

This program was co-founded by the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, and the Deseronto Recreation Committee.

Skating

classes will both be sponsored by the Deseronto Recreation Committee this season. Registration dates will be announced in the near future, and classes will commence on, or about, October 11.

The Saturday afternoon public skating session will be eliminated this season. However it will be replaced with an "adult-only" skating period on a trial basis. This skating period will be held on Sunday evenings at 7:00 p.m. Admission will be $1.00 and limited to persons 16 years of age or older.
